Speedboat Does 101.15 Miles An Hour

GAR WOOD SETS RECORD FOR ALL BOATS AT MIAMI

His 101.15 Miles an Hour Will Be Challenged Next Wednesday at Buenos Aires by Kaye Don, of England, Whose Miss England II. Has Unofficially Been Clocked at 106 Miles an Hour.

Canadian Press
Miami Beach, Fla., March 20.—Gar Wood, United States speedboat racer, drove his trim motorboat, Miss America IX, across a measured mile on Indian Creek here to-day to claim two new world speed-boat records.

He set the first with an average two-way speed of 100.6 miles an hour. The second record, made 45 minutes later, was 101.15 miles an hour for an average of two runs. His record will not wait long for a challenge, for next Wednesday at Buenos Aires, Argentina, Kaye Don of England will seek to break it with Miss England II, which unofficially clocked a short time ago at 106 miles an hour, with Don at the wheel.

Wood, accompanied by Orlin Johnson, his mechanic, piloted Miss America IX on his second northbound trip over the measured mile at a speed of 100.75 miles an hour as he made his second successful attempt to break the record of the late Sir Henry O. D. Segrave of England of 98.76 miles an hour. Wood's time for the mile was 35.73 seconds.

On the return speed run he made his best time of the day, accomplishing the mile in 35.45 seconds at a speed of 101.55 miles an hour.

THE TIMES
The officials times for the runs as announced by Timor Porter were:

South, 35.52 seconds, 101.351 miles an hour.

North, 36.05 seconds, 99.86 miles an hour.

South, 35.81 seconds, 100.94 miles an hour.

North, 35.73 seconds, 100.75 miles an hour.

An average of 100.6 miles an hour for the north and south runs of 99.86 and 101.35 miles an hour, selected from the three by Wood.

One end of the measured mile was in front of Wood's home on Indian Creek and the other south from that point.

Wood started at a bridge across the creek one mile north of the measured mile, giving him a clear course of approximately three miles.

DON AT BUENOS AIRES
New York, March 20.—Gar Wood's new speed boat record will be in danger next Wednesday when Kaye Don, ace of English drivers, attempts to establish a new mark with Miss England II at Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Miss England II is the boat in which Sir Henry Segrave was killed on a lake in England while making the record of 98.7 miles an hour which Wood broke to-day.

SOLLOWAY AND MILLS ARE SENT UP FOR TRIAL

Canadian Press
Toronto, March 20.—L. W. C. Solloway and Harvey Mills, partners in the former stock brokerage firm of Solloway, Mills & Company, to-day were committed for trial on thirteen charges of theft arising out of the operation of their brokerage business, following a preliminary investigation into the charges.

The charge of conspiracy to steal was withdrawn by the prosecution. In police court yesterday the hearing of two counts against the accused was completed.

Charges on which the accused were committed were laid by thirteen individuals.

In committing the accused Magistrate Jones said: "I have nothing but supreme contempt for those people who are willing to use brokers for their own benefit. The public are as much to blame as the brokers."

King Objects to Commons Hearing Deputy Speaker; Speaker Permits Speech

Canadian Press
Ottawa, March 20.—Debate on the address in reply to the speech from the Throne was delayed this afternoon when the question was raised as to whether or not Armand Lavergne, Deputy Speaker and Conservative member for Montmagny, Que., should participate. During discussion of the point, Mr. Lavergne informed Speaker Black he would offer his resignation as Deputy Speaker if he was not to be permitted to participate in debate. Eventually he was allowed to speak in debate.

MR. KING SPEAKS
The question was raised by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader. Shortly after to-day's session of the House opened, Mr. King voiced his objection to Mr. Lavergne participating in debate. Mr. Lavergne had moved the adjournment of the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the Throne yesterday evening and the Liberal leader said he assumed the Deputy Speaker intended to speak to-day. Mr. King contended it was contrary to the usage of the House that the Deputy Speaker should take part in debate.

QUESTION FOR ALL
The last thought in his mind would be to embarrass Mr. Lavergne, said Mr. King. The question raised was one wholly apart from the individual and related exclusively to the office of Deputy Speaker.

Mr. King invited all parties to give attention in a non-partisan way to this question. It should be a rule on political discussion that the Deputy Speaker should be precluded from participating in debate, and although no formal rule had been passed in Canada barring that officer from speaking, it was many years since he had done so. The Deputy should follow (Concluded on Page 2)

SAME AS SPEAKER
The position of Deputy Speaker was precisely the same as that of Speaker, the Liberal leader of the opposition contended. Not for over a century had the Deputy Speaker in Britain participated in a debate, and although no formal rule had been passed in Canada barring that officer from speaking, it was many years since he had done so. The Deputy should follow (Concluded on Page 2)

James W. Davidson Returns From Three-year Organizing and Surveying Tour

All Cities of World Where Western Men Travel Now Have Rotary Clubs

"Rotary is being utilized as a means of creating a better understanding between the peoples of the world and this is particularly true in respect to the tour that I have undertaken during the last three years," said James W. Davidson, F.R.G.S., of Calgary, Alta., former vice-president of Rotary International and now honorary general commissioner of Rotary International, who arrived here to-day by the liner Empress of Canada from the Far East.

SPREADING RAPIDLY
"Rotary is spreading very rapidly throughout the world," said Mr. Davidson. "Outside of Constantinople and Saigon, there is now scarcely a city in the world that western men travel to that has not its Rotary Club."

"I have traveled both in organizing clubs and surveying Rotary possibilities in Greece, Turkey, Egypt, Palestine, Syria, Iraq, Persia, India, Burma, Ceylon, Java, the Malay States, the Straits Settlement, Cambodia, Cochinchina. (Concluded on Page 2)

SASKATCHEWAN PREMIER HERE TO PLAY GOLF

Hon. J. T. M. Anderson Forgets Government Problems in Healthy Relaxation

Will Talk Over Economic and Other Questions With Premier Tolmie While Here

When the Saskatchewan Legislature was prorogued a few days ago, Premier J. T. M. Anderson decided to forget politics for a while and seek relaxation on the coast. With the session over at Regina he felt that he was fully entitled to a holiday, so he packed his bag and golf clubs and came to Victoria.

On reaching the Empress Hotel this morning from Vancouver, Premier Anderson said that he was not talking for publication.

W. McGowan, his secretary, came along too, and proved a useful buffer when newspapermen approached the Saskatchewan leader for an interview. He had come here for golf and would remain about three days.

While he is in the city, however, Premier Anderson is expected to find time to have a talk with Premier Tolmie in his office at the Parliament Buildings.

It is understood that he plans to take up with Premier Tolmie the question of developing the Oriental markets, particularly for Canadian grain.

General economic conditions will be discussed, as will also the forthcoming Dominion-Provincial conference at Ottawa.

While on his way west, Premier Anderson had a conference at Edmonton with Premier Brownlee of Alberta.

Hon. James F. Bryant, K.C., Saskatchewan Minister of Public Works, who was here earlier in the week, did not wait for the arrival of Premier Anderson, having left the city for Regina.

SAN FRANCISCO GAS PRICE AT NEW LOW-LEVEL

San Francisco, March 20.—Gasoline retailed at the lowest price in the history of San Francisco to-day when A. J. Rose, a garage man, cut his price to 8½ cents a gallon, a half cent lower than it had been selling for some days at some independent stations.

TOURTELLOTT WILL SUCCEED B.C. KEELEY

Named Acting Pacific Coast Manager of Canadian National Steamships

Canadian Press
Vancouver, March 20.—R. B. Teakle, general manager of the Canadian National Steamship Limited, to-day confirmed the appointment of C. W. Tourtellotte to the post of acting Pacific Coast manager for the company, succeeding B. C. Keeley, recently resigned.

Mr. Tourtellotte has been assistant to Mr. Keeley for eleven years, since the old C.G.M.M. Limited was formed, and was appointed assistant Pacific Coast manager in March, 1925. His promotion is a popular one on this coast, where he is well known in all shipping circles.

PRISON RIOT IS QUICKLY QUELLED

Joliet, Ill., March 20.—Prisoners in cell house F, in the Illinois prison at Stateville, three miles from here, sought to stage a riot and to escape from their cells to-day. The riot was short lived. No prisoners were released. The disturbance consisted principally of breaking of glass in the cells and yelling and cursing.

JAPAN CABINET WINS ON TEST VOTE IN DIET

Tokio, March 20.—An opposition motion of no confidence in the government was defeated 239 to 169 in the Japanese Diet to-day.

The motion would have condemned the economic, diplomatic and administrative policies of the Hamaguchi Government.

APPROVE RIGHT OF WATERFRONT LEASE TAXATION

Private Bills Committee Favors Amendments to Vancouver Charter

City Sought Power to Tax Elevators Under Harbor Board

Going into camera after Vancouver delegates had withdrawn, the private bills committee of the Legislature decided unanimously this morning to approve Vancouver's application for an amendment to the charter giving powers to tax leasehold waterfront leases to the full assessment of land and on 25 per cent of the assessed value of improvements. This will apply only on renewals of present leases and new leases.

The application for an amendment to the Vancouver city charter giving the right to tax waterfront crown leases and improvements under the Harbor Board was renewed before the private bills committee of the Legislature this morning.

J. B. Williams, Vancouver city solicitor, explained that objections to the proposal had been withdrawn except by the Harbor Board. The city sought to tax land on the assessed value and improvements on 25 per cent of their assessed value. The city sought to establish the principle of the right to levy the taxes and under the suggested amendment would not benefit for fifteen or sixteen years as the power to tax was not sought except on new leases and renewals. If the city wished to grant concessions to the grain trade it must secure some new source of revenue to do so otherwise it would (Concluded on Page 2)

LEWIS STATES DREISER'S ACT IS AN OUTRAGE

Nobel Literature Prize Winner in Squabble With Fellow Author in New York

Associated Press
New York, March 20.—Sinclair Lewis, novelist and Nobel Literature Prize winner, characterized as an "outrageous and scandalous affair" the incident at the Metropolitan Club here yesterday evening when he was slapped by Theodore Dreiser, author of "American Tragedy."

"He struck me with his open hand," said Lewis, about to board a train for Toledo, Ohio. "I did not strike back because someone grabbed my arm."

"I stand by what I said concerning the 'stealing' of 3,000 words from my wife's (Dorothy Thompson) book on Russia. The incident, however, is closed as far as I am concerned."

"Can't two men have a private squabble without all this fuss being made over it?"

Lewis, author of "Main Street," "Babbalanza" and many other books, and Dreiser, writer of many books, including "The Genius," were guests, together with several other men of letters, at a dinner honoring Boris Pilyak, Russian writer.

Kassay, Mechanic, Held For Attempting to Weaken Big Dirigible Being Built

Washington, March 20.—The Washington Star to-day said it had been reliably informed an additional charge might be placed against Paul Kassay in connection with the crash of a navy bombing plane at San Diego, Calif., last September.

F. Kassay, who is reputed to be a former Hungarian army officer, was arrested in Akron, Ohio, yesterday evening on a charge of criminal syndicalism in connection with alleged threats of sabotage against the United States navy's giant Zeppelin Akron, which is under construction at Akron. Kassay worked as a mechanic on the dirigible construction.

PLOTS' RAMIFICATIONS TRACED
Cleveland, March 20.—Discovery of the alleged plot to wrecked the giant U.S. navy dirigible Akron was the outgrowth of an investigation of an alleged widespread sabotage plot against aircraft in this country, it was revealed here to-day.

C. F. Barndt, general manager of the Great Lakes Aircraft Corporation, said the crew of a naval bombing plane was killed when the ship mysteriously crashed. It was one of eighteen planes built and delivered last spring by the Great Lakes Company in Cleveland.

WEAKENED WINGS
Subsequent investigation, Barndt said, showed someone had weakened the wings so that eventually they would collapse. Two planes which already had passed rigid factory inspection were found to be defective.

Investigators of the San Diego tragedy followed the trail back to the factory where Paul F. Kassay had been employed as a mechanic. He later went to work on the Akron dirigible and while the investigation continued, alleged plot to wreck that big craft also was discovered.

Crew of Sir William Boards Eagle, Another Sealer, Off North Newfoundland

Search By Ships Finds No Men on Ice; Balchen Plane Bound For Scene

St. John's, Nfld., March 20.—The auxiliary sealing schooner Sir William, one of the fleet of which the lost sealer Viking was a member, sank fifteen miles northeast of Horse Island, northern Newfoundland, this morning, according to advices received here. The crew reached the steamer Eagle in safety.

The crew of the Sir William abandoned ship and reached the Eagle, another sealing ship, in two dories. Men set fire to the ship before leaving, so it would not become a derelict and a menace to navigation.

A heavy gale was blowing with snow in the vicinity of Horse Island.

Federal Income Tax Changes Proposed In Bill Being Drafted

Reported Bennett Will Ask Parliament to Raise Company Profits Levy to Ten Per Cent and End Duplication

Special to The Times
Ottawa, March 20.—Impending changes in the Federal income tax, it was learned semi-officially to-day, involve an increase in the present charges on corporation profits. It will be proposed the tax be increased from eight to ten per cent.

It is regarded as probable the government will ask Parliament to remove the present duplication of taxation on corporation and company dividends.

At present corporations pay a tax on these monies and shareholders also pay a tax on the dividends received. Removal of this duplication will cost the Treasury $750,000 a year. The proposed increase in the straight tax would net about $7,000,000 a year.

SURVIVORS OF TAXI WRECK ARE IN HOSPITAL

Vancouver, March 20.—Condition of Miss Isabel Physick and B. J. Forrester, who were injured when a taxi plunged over the Georgia Viaduct here early Sunday morning, killing four of their companions, is only "fair," according to General Hospital reports to-day.

Mrs. Physick, who is the more seriously injured of the two, is suffering from a fracture of the collarbone, six rib fractures, injuries to the back and a fracture of the right leg. Mr. Forrester has a fracture of the right arm and internal injuries.

GAMBLING TO BE WIDE OPEN UNDER NEW LAW IN NEVADA

Associated Press
Carson City, Nev., March 20.—Virtually all forms of gambling became legal in Nevada to-day and the path of the divorce seekers will be shortened and made smoother beginning May 1 as the result of two bills signed yesterday by Governor Fred B. Balzar.

In championing legalized gambling, Nevada is taking a step toward the so-called good old days, and in the divorce measure it will become the only state in the union in which a person may establish legal qualifications in six weeks to sue for a divorce. Arkansas and Idaho recently adopted measures requiring three months' residence.

Another measure designed to facilitate divorces was given final approval by the Legislature yesterday, but has not yet reached the Governor. This measure provides divorce cases may be heard in private and that complaints and property settlements may be sealed, thus preventing their publication.

RETURN TO OLD DAYS
Under the gambling act, which provides for the licensing of houses of chance, Nevada again may see some of the high life of a half century ago, when its mountains were yielding millions of dollars in silver and gold to free spending, quick shooting and otherwise adventurous individuals who flocked in from all over the world.

CASINOS EXPAND
Even without benefit of legality, gambling has been carried on openly in Nevada for several years, but the new law is expected to foster a new era for the temples of luck. One of the largest clubrooms in Reno has prepared for expansion in anticipation of new business and other places are expected to spring up. Many old dealers are expected to return.

LABOR WINS PONTYPRIDD

T. L. Davies New British M.P.; D. Cooper, Baldwinite, Wins St. George's, London

London, March 20.—The representation in the House of Commons remains unchanged as a result of two by-elections held yesterday. News that T. L. Davies, Labor, had been elected in Pontypridd, Wales, came to-day, following an earlier official report that Capt. A. Duff Cooper, Baldwinite, had been elected in St. George's, London.

In Pontypridd, Glamorganshire, Davies was the victor in a three-cornered fight for the seat made vacant by the resignation from Parliament of T. I. Mardy Jones, who captured the seat for the Labor Party first in 1922. Mr. Jones had been fined for mis-using a parliamentary railway pass.

The vote yesterday was as follows: T. L. Davies, Labor, 20,687; Capt. G. Crawshaw, Liberal, 8,366; and D. Evans, Conservative, 5,499.

COOPER'S VICTORY
London, March 20.—Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin breathed easier to-day. Capt. A. Duff Cooper, official Conservative, was victor in the hard-fought St. George's, Westminster, by-election yesterday over Sir Ernest Petter, unofficial Conservative, who was backed by all the power of the Beaverbrook-Rothermere press in a campaign against the Baldwin leadership of the Conservative Party of Great Britain.

Capt. Duff Cooper had a majority of 3,710, the vote being 17,242 to 11,532. The total vote was almost precisely the same as in the general election of 1929, when Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, Conservative, was elected with 22,447 against 6,294 for J. G. Butler, Labor, a majority of 16,154. Sir Laming died a few weeks ago.

SEEN AS REBUKE
The Conservative Party leader held he was justified to-day in claiming the vote was a vindication of his party leadership and a rebuke to the press barons, whom he charges with "impudent meddling" in party affairs. On the other hand, Lord Beaverbrook and Lord Rothermere pointed out the candidate they supported had cut deeply into the Tory vote, reducing the official party majority by as much as 10,444 votes from 1929.

the rule and practices laid down for the Speaker. A certain independence of party was attached to the position of Deputy Speaker. Mr. King proceeded. A salary was attached to the office "to enable the incumbent to devote his time and thought to the important matters that came up for discussion during the time he occupies the position of presiding officer."

HAS NOT WANTED
Every member of the House wished to have a feeling the Deputy Speaker was free from party bias and was impartial in his judgments, said Mr. King. Strengthening his argument by quoting from views on the question expressed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Robert Borden, Mr. King reiterated his suggestion that the Deputy Speaker was in the same position as the Speaker concerning participation in political debates.

BETTER UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN WORLD PEOPLES IS CREATED BY ROTARY

Annam, Tonkin, China Manchuria and Korea. "In most of these countries I had the privilege of organizing clubs. It is interesting that Rotary has an equal appeal with all nationalities and all races. Most of the clubs of Asia, and practically all countries now represented, are creating a better understanding between the foreigner and the native. It seems strange that no other organization exists for this very important work. This is in line with the principal objectives of Rotary—the development of inter-racial and international goodwill."

3,200 CLUBS
In speaking of the rapidly with which Rotary has grown, Mr. Davidson explained that there are over 3,200 clubs in Rotary to-day with some 154,000 members in seventy different countries.

In Canada there are clubs in every city of over 2,000 people and a total of over 110 clubs.

"Most of the dislikes, most of the hatred that exists between countries are due merely to lack of contact," went on Mr. Davidson. "We do not speak badly of our friends and we do not wish to quarrel with them. Our friendships must not be limited to the boundaries of our own nations. Just so long as we permit ourselves to live in exclusive groups, to ignore the other fellow, to allow our nationalities to make us quite content to associate solely with those of our own nationality and to believe in them alone, then just so long do we encourage an atmosphere in which war may flourish."

"Rotary is not a pacifist organization. Participation in some wars has been justifiable in the past and may again be in the future. But Rotary can assist and, we believe, is unequalled in its capacity for this service, in improving relations between the peoples of various countries, and one can never know how far this may go in preventing misunderstandings that, unchecked, may have in them serious possibilities."

Mr. Davidson opened a club in Hongkong, the fourteenth club in the Far East.

Mr. Davidson is a great traveler. He was a member of the second Peary Arctic expedition to the North Pole; acted as war correspondent during the Sino-Japanese War and has been on several important missions to the Orient and Russia. He served the Russian Government in Siberia and on the outbreak of war between Russia and Japan he returned to China, where he presided for some time as an associate magistrate in the mixed court of Shanghai. For several years he has resided in Canada and has been interested in large colonization projects. Victoria Rotarians turned out in force this morning to greet Mr. Davidson, Mrs. Davidson and their daughter, Marjory, who is "business manager of the tour." Rev. Montague Bruce, president; J. T. Goodlake, secretary, headed the local party. Large boxes of flowers were presented to Mrs. and Miss Davidson by Victoria and Vancouver Rotary.

be granted at the direct expense of the ratepayers. The Harbor Board had declined to support the proposal, he said, suggesting the tax apply only to land above high water mark. This would exclude practically the whole of the board's property and nullify the amendment.

It was planned to fix assessments for ten years to give stabilization, Mr. Williams explained. No exemption on assessment was sought for any industry on the waterfront competing with another industry.

a crew of twenty-eight. It sailed for the icefields March 7.

SEARCHED FOR MISSING
Rescue of the Sir William's crew by the Eagle would indicate the schooner was attempting to help in the search for Viking victims, and became crushed in the ice. First messages gave no particulars.

RESCUE SHIP IN ICE JAM
St. John's Nfld., March 20.—The steamer Sagana, with 110 survivors of the Viking disaster on board, was caught in an ice jam to-day and it is now impossible to say when it will arrive here. The Sagana was to leave Horse Island, northern Newfoundland, for this port late this afternoon. It was five miles from the spot where the sealing ship Sir William sank.

NONE OF MISSING FOUND
St. John's Nfld., March 20.—Sealing ships have searched every foot of ice for twenty-two miles beyond the scene of the Viking disaster without finding any trace of the victims, and the captains advised this morning they were certain there was nothing further to be found alive or dead. They believe those missing had gone down with the ship last Sunday evening.

The weather report from Horse Island was east by northerly gales with thick fog along the coast. Navigators familiar with the locality doubt the wisdom of sending plane expeditions that could accomplish nothing and only risk airman's lives. All but the most seriously injured of the Viking's survivors had been transferred from the island to the steamer Sagana. Aboard the Sagana were 120 men.

DESCRIBED AS SAFE
Nanagatuck, Conn., March 20.—William Wood, an amateur short wave radio operator here (station W1APD) to-day said that 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon he had picked up signals signed "Father J. Kere, Harbor Breton, station POBJ." in which there was an indistinct reference to A. G. Penrod, one of the victims of the Viking explosion off Horse Island, northern Newfoundland. The signals faded and died away.

This morning Wood raised apparently that station and received this message, "I told you yesterday that Penrod and two Americans were O.K. I have no other details." Penrod was with Varick Frissell and the other movie man from New York aboard the Viking.

LANDS AT ST. JOHN
St. John, N.B., March 20.—The Sikorsky plane from Boston with Bert Balchen and two others aboard, arrived here at 4 p.m. on its way to Horse Island, northern Newfoundland. It landed at the St. John airport at Milledgeville.

BARE SABOTAGE SCHEME IN U.S.

Kassay, trapped by Department of Justice agents, confessed, they said, that he had meant to see the dirigible "never would take to the air." William J. McDermott, assistant U.S. district attorney, said Kassay had planned to weaken the top of the dirigible's metal skeleton by omitting rivets, and had planned to get into the control room before the scheduled launching of the ship early this summer.

FORMER B.C. BOND MANAGER SENTENCED TO TWO-YEAR TERM

"I am satisfied the accused led the complainant, Henry, to believe that negotiations had proceeded further than they actually had, especially when he told him what was to be the dirigible 'never would take to the air.' William J. McDermott, assistant U.S. district attorney, said Kassay had planned to weaken the top of the dirigible's metal skeleton by omitting rivets, and had planned to get into the control room before the scheduled launching of the ship early this summer."

"With regard to Henry, I never saw a witness in court who was firmly won over to the view that he parted with the securities because of what he was told." The judge went on to say there could be no doubt that when a person bought into a company, the important facts were not what it earned in 1929, but what it earned in 1930. He pointed out that from the balance sheet the company had a loss of $10,156. He stressed the statement in the prospectus of Mr. Henry was that there were earnings of $32,000. He refused to attach much weight to the earnings of 1929, but the difference between profits and earnings, declaring that the client had accepted the earnings to mean profits.

"I can't see how the accused can get away from a finding that he obtained the money by false pretences," the judge went on.

"A CRUEL ACT"
"I listened to his explanation as to the 1929 business and how he planned to do business in a different way and hoped that in 1930 the losses would be overcome. But to my mind it is a cruel act to sell these shares to an old man of seventy like this. He had been a hard-working blacksmith around Metchoin for years. It seems to me a man ought to think for a long time before selling shares like these to such a man."

The judge dealt with the valuation of $70,000 placed by Boorman on the Adelphi Building at Government and Yates Street after he had bought it not long before for $30,000. "It has not been explained to me how this building had increased in value to that extent," the judge went on. The judge then announced that he

COTTON MILL IDLE DESPITE TARIFF RAISE

Veniot Tells Commons Bennett's Promise to St. John, N.B., Not Fulfilled

Spencer, U.F.A. Member, Criticizes Course Followed By Bennett

Ottawa, March 20.—Hon. P. J. Veniot, former Liberal Postmaster-General, addressing the Commons yesterday afternoon, dealt at some length with the closing down of the Cornwall cotton mill at St. John's.

"What may have been a blessing for Cornwall turned out to be a disaster for New Brunswick," he said. "R. B. Hanson, Conservative, York-Sunbury, N.B., asked Mr. Veniot if he meant to say the Cornwall mill had been closed because of the tariff. 'I did not say the tariff closed the Cornwall mill,' replied Mr. Veniot, 'but the Prime Minister told us last session the tariff would keep it open.'"

He wondered what was the matter. Was it that Premier Bennett, in increasing the tariff, had consulted only the wishes of the manufacturers and not those of the consumers? Mr. Veniot, who represents Gloucester, N.B., gave other instances to indicate depressed conditions in his province. Wages in the lumber camps had been reduced materially and the Minister of Labor had not enforced the Fair Wages Act, he said.

SECESSION TALK
The Premier of New Brunswick, (Mr. Baxter), Mr. Veniot said, had made a speech which was interpreted as suggesting the Maritime Provinces had the right to secede. If such an utterance had been voiced by a Liberal, Mr. Veniot declared, there would have been a great deal of trouble.

He quoted parts of two speeches made by Premier Bennett in Regina at the end of December last in one of which, Mr. Veniot said, the Prime Minister had declared the present depression as the greatest the world had ever known. Mr. Veniot also quoted from the New Year message of the Minister of Trade and Commerce (Mr. Stevens) as declaring the present depression was not as great as in 1913, 1914 and 1921. Those were years, Mr. Veniot said, when the Conservatives were in power.

"BUNK AND HUMBUG"
The New Year message of Mr. Stevens, Mr. Veniot declared, had also said the national credit of Canada stood higher than it had ten years ago. Mr. Stevens, however, during the election campaign last year had talked about the great depression. The change could not have taken place from July 28 to New Year's Day, and what had been told the people of Canada during the election campaign in this regard was "all bunk and humbug."

Canada was all right, Mr. Veniot stated, but it was not in the interest of the party which had brought this about.

REMARK RECALLED
The Prime Minister, Mr. Veniot declared, had protested in his speech in the House this week against what he described as "insinuations and innuendoes from the Liberal side of the House."

The greatest insinuation he had ever heard had fallen from the lips of the Prime Minister on a former occasion, said Mr. Veniot, when, years ago, sitting as a Conservative supporter in a former administration, he had characterized one who later was to become his leader as an instrument or tool of Mackenzie and Mann. It seemed to him, Mr. Veniot proceeded, a case of a "thief crying 'thief'" in order to cover up his tracks.

The former Postmaster-General concluded by asking why the government had felt it necessary to call a special session of Parliament last year to vote $20,000,000 for the unemployed, when during the brief Conservative administration of 1926, when Mr. Bennett was Finance Minister, that government had passed $56,000,000 in Governor-General's warrants.

SPENCER SPEAKS
H. E. Spencer, U.F.A., Battle River, said that if the federal government had adopted the suggestion that wheat prices be pegged at 70 cents a bushel, he believed it would have tided the prairie farmers over the present crisis.

He charged "the banks were still breaking the law" when they charged eight and nine per cent on loans. In many instances, Mr. Spencer said, banks had turned down loan applications from well-to-do farmers who had been caught without funds when the second snow fell last October.

These actions on the part of the bankers were compelling the people to go to the stores and get the necessities.

of life on credit, Mr. Spencer said. He felt that if Premier Bennett would pay more attention to financing and less to the tariff barrier it would be better for the country.

In a passing reference to Soviet Russia, Mr. Spencer deplored the Bennett Government had cut off that export market.

HEARING OF CASE PUT OFF FOR SIX WEEKS

Canadian Press
Vancouver, March 20.—Six weeks' adjournment was ordered in the B.C. Supreme Court here yesterday by Mr. Justice Gregory of the trial of an action in which William H. Mackee, retired, claims $37,144 from Solloway Mills and Company Limited in connection with stock transactions two and a half years ago.

W. P. Pitts, K.C., counsel for the defendant, announced his willingness to proceed, but G. L. Fraser, appearing for the plaintiff, explained he was unable to go on because documents in the possession of the Attorney-General, required for the case, would take three weeks to segregate.

"I know my learned friend would not be ready," said Mr. Fraser, who added the case had already been set down for trial five times.

If the trial did not go on to-day, as had been arranged, Mr. Fraser requested a six weeks' adjournment. This was granted by the judge.

FARMERS WISH OUTLINE OF NEW FEDERAL PLANS

Vallance, Saskatchewan Liberal, Urges Bennett Ministry to Avoid Delay

Canadian Press
Ottawa, March 20.—John Vallance, Liberal, South Battleford, Sask., addressing the Commons yesterday afternoon, said that some time ago the Federal Minister of Agriculture had decided to bring in an agricultural policy and called a conference the Ministers of Agriculture of the provinces. The farmers' organizations had thought they should have been invited as well.

Robert Weir rose and said the conference in question had been called solely for purposes of administration and not to formulate an agricultural policy. The Minister said he thought all farmer organizations had been notified. Notification had been given the United Farmers of Ontario.

Mr. Vallance said he accepted the Minister's denial.

FARMERS WANT STATEMENT
"I hope," Mr. Vallance said, "that before the end of this debate the Minister will announce what his policy actually is." It was impossible for the public to know present intentions, he said, when the government was demanding a definite statement as to the position of the government with regard to agriculture.

During the whole of the special session last September the government had "hedged" on the question. "Do you realize," Mr. Vallance asked, "why the Farmers' Charter of Liberty is being peddled in western Canada?"

What was needed apparently was that farmers should be as persistent as manufacturers in pressing their demands, he said. The government then might accede.

ASKS ABOUT BIG SUM
Many economists claimed it would not be a wise thing to have the price of wheat pegged at 70 cents a bushel, the Premier of the prairie provinces, Mr. Vallance continued. However, during the war years, the price had been pegged when it was not in the interests of the growers. Reports had been circulated that some $70,000,000, representing a part of the difference between the pegged price and that which had gone into the dominion treasury. He was putting questions on the order paper in the hope the government would clear up this question.

TURNBULL CRITICIZED
Speaking in French, Elie O. Bertrand, Liberal, Prescott, Ont., expressed surprise the member for Regina (F. W. Turnbull, Conservative), should have brought to give the House lessons in tolerance when, said Mr. Bertrand, "it is known the Prime Minister of Saskatchewan desires the prohibition of the French language and religious exercises in his province. He also wished to ban ecclesiastics from wearing their religious robes."

Galveston-Winnipeg Auto Tour Planned

Winnipeg, March 20.—Five hundred automobiles will start their way from Texas to Winnipeg this summer, the largest auto tour ever organized in America. The journey will commence from Galveston in the middle of July, and as the cars drive northward additional autos will join the parade.

The goodwill tour is being organized by E. Wood of Galveston, president of the United States Highway Association. In Winnipeg the convention of the No. 75 Highway Association will be held.

NEW PROPELLER IS BLAMED FOR FLIERS' DEATHS

Pisa, Italy, March 20.—A variable propeller, of a type which Colonel Umberto Maddalena always favored, was blamed to-day for the disaster which yesterday took the lives of Maddalena and two companions, Capt. Cecconi and Lieut. Damonte.

An inquest commission to-day found that the propeller had broken, cutting the fuselage in two when the plane was several thousand feet in the air, severing the main part of the plane from its tail.

Neither the three bodies nor the motors of the plane have been found and it is believed they were dragged into the deep whirlpools which abound along the coast.

The propeller was Maddalena's specialty. He believed it enabled him to take off with heavier loads of fuel than with an ordinary propeller and he used it when he broke the world endurance and distance record over a closed circuit.

BENNETT PLANS ARE SCORED BY PRAIRIE M.P.

Young Says Conservative Ministry Has Lowered Canadian Standards of Living

Ottawa, March 20.—"There was never a period in Canada's history when so little capital was invested in industry as the last eight months," said E. J. Young, Liberal, Weyburn, Sask., when addressing the Commons yesterday afternoon. He stated Premier Bennett had said the reverse while speaking earlier in the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne. The average for the last seven-year period was $227,000,000 invested in Canadian industry, Mr. Young said, adding that if the same pace were maintained for the full year as was shown in the first few months, the total for 1931 would be $87,000,000.

UNEMPLOYMENT INCREASES

Asking how the Bennett tariff policy had aided the country in contrast to what it cost, Mr. Young said: "We know from the government's own figures that the number of unemployed in Canada was 200,000 at the time of the special session and to-day the number is 300,000."

KING CORRECTS MULLINS

Col. H. A. Mullins, Conservative, Marquette, Man., said credit had been taken by the late Liberal administration for the removal of the British embargo against Canadian cattle. Challenging this, the member for Marquette said he himself had worked for years to have the embargo removed and that the entry of Canadian cattle into Great Britain had been due to efforts of Conservatives.

What had become of the promises of the Conservatives for prosperity and better markets? asked Maurice Brasset, Liberal, Gaspe, Que., when he shared in the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne in the Commons yesterday evening. The Bennett government had been in power for nearly eight months and unemployment had not ceased. He stated the unemployment scheme of the Bennett government had been very hard on municipalities.

He congratulated the mover and seconder of the address, it required a lot of courage, Mr. Brasset said, to support the Bennett government.

RECORD STEEL DEAL IS MADE IN NEW YORK

New York, March 20.—A few men got together here this week and completed a transaction in steel, ten or fifteen million dollars' worth. It will be used to build the Rockefeller "Radio City" between Fifth and Sixth Avenues and 48th and 51st Streets, and 125,000 tons of it will be fabricated by the American Bridge Company, to be delivered within three years.

The contract was styled the largest ever awarded for structural steel. It calls for two and a half times as much as went into the new Hudson River Bridge, three times as much as in the Empire State Building, enough to build ten battleships or a railroad line between New York and Chicago.

The estimate was made by the steel men that 25,000 men would find work through the project.

MOUNT DOUGLAS PARK

THE REPORT OF MR. OSCAR
Bass, K.C., who was appointed by the government to investigate conditions in Mount Douglas Park, furnishes a complete vindication of those who have been trenchantly fighting to protect that area from depredation of various kinds. The commissioner does not mince his words, declaring that "the creation of the sand-pit, the dumping of unsightly garbage piles and the cutting of the projected road are so desecrating in their nature and effect as to be brutal," and he attributes this to an entire absence on the part of our civic authorities, over a long period of years, of "even a partial appreciation of the priceless value of the heritage given to the people of Victoria for future generations."

The commissioner points out that Mount Douglas Park is a property vested in Victoria in trust for the citizens at large, and finds that for many years the city has virtually abandoned that trust. In his judgment the city has no power to delegate its powers of administration or any of its proprietary rights in the park to the beaches and parks committee of the two municipalities, or any other body.

Mr. Bass describes the creation of the gravel pit as an act of vandalism, irreparably spoiling one of the most attractive localities in the park area. The dumping of garbage alongside the roadway also receives strong condemnation. As for the new road, he calls it a "scar on the face of nature" which never may be healed, declares that priceless treasures of forest growth were sacrificed in the work, and says that the road would become a speedway and more dangerous than the present winding highway which, in his opinion, is the logical roadway through the park and one which easily could be made more useful and attractive.

Mr. Bass approves the suggestion of Mr. F. B. Pemberton during the inquiry that Mount Douglas Park be placed under the control of an advisory permanent parks board, which would pass upon proposed improvements before they were initiated. Whatever may be done in that direction, it is to be hoped that the future control of the park will be such as to insure its protection against any enlargement of the gravel pit or extension of the new road. What is needed now is something that will help to conceal these hideous scars on the landscape. It might be possible to transform the gravel pit into a garden, of some sort, with lawn, trees and flowers, while the clearing for the new road should be made as attractive as possible.

It ought to be safe to assume that in consequence of the commissioner's arresting report no more sand and gravel will be taken from the pit, work on the new road will not be resumed and the dumping of garbage along the bank will cease; but the fact that, according to Mr. Bass's findings, the work of cutting the road was continued recently in spite of the request of the province that it be suspended pending an inquiry, suggests that it would be safer if the provincial government took over the park. Somebody seems determined to have that road cut to the gravel pit in spite of every objection. It would not be fair to hold the present administration of the city responsible, through indifference, for all of the conditions condemned by Commissioner Bass. The gravel pit has been growing for many years. Garbage dumping is an old, old story. The projected new road, however, is a recent matter.

Mr. Bass very appropriately pays a tribute to Mr. F. A. Graham for his public spirit in opposing the disfigurement of the park and arousing the public to a realization of the damage that was being done there. That tribute was well deserved, since if it had not been for the campaign Mr. Graham conducted on behalf of the park, the work which Mr. Bass so scathingly denounces would have gone on indefinitely.

HIS PROMISE WAS DEFINITE

supporters seem to be finding it somewhat difficult to explain the government's failure to end unemployment and restore the country's economic fortunes. They conveniently ignore the fact that the Conservative leader told the people of the Dominion last summer that if they would elect him to office he would at once institute legislation that would make jobs available for all. He was absolutely specific on this particular point.

In view of the Prime Minister's definite promise, therefore, there is very little force in the argument advanced by The Vancouver Daily Province, that "it is always easy for an opposition to find ammunition to hurl at a government during hard times, just as it is always easy for a government to find the means of warding off attacks when times are good." Our contemporary then concludes its apology with the remark that "Mr. Bennett, seemingly, was not greatly disturbed by the attack on his record," that "his pledges still stand, they have been implemented and are being tested."

This is just the point. The pledges remain; but they are unfulfilled pledges. In effect, all Mr. King did the other day was to remind the Prime Minister of this fact, and

Mr. Bennett ought not to be puffed because he is told that he has not done what he promised to do. He has not paid the price of his election to office. And the country has a right to know why, instead of ending unemployment, the jobless total now is around 300,000—according to the Minister of Labor—compared with a little more than half that number when Mr. Bennett met Parliament in special session last fall.

Nor is this the whole of the story. In addition to a bigger unemployed total, trade has declined by approximately $600,000,000 in the last twelve months, general revenues have dwindled, the net debt of the country was approximately $45,000,000 higher at the end of last January than it was a year ago, while the Prime Minister already has prepared the taxpayers for a financial deficit of something like $100,000,000.

Supporters of the government can not gesture this condition away with platitudes, or absolve Mr. Bennett from all responsibility. It does not follow that any other government could have remedied the situation completely. But Mr. Bennett led the people to believe that he had some magic formula by which all our ills, economic and social, could be cured promptly. It is for him to give Parliament and the country a better explanation of his failure than he gave the other afternoon.

STRANGE BEGINNINGS

scarcely the place to serve an apprenticeship for a career of greatness in the air.

It has been done, however—and by none other than Sir George Hubert Wilkins, that distinguished explorer of arctic and antarctic fastnesses who is making preparations for a daring submarine journey under the ice cap of the North Pole. Sir Hubert, who was born at Mount Bryan, South Australia, in 1888, spent his college days attending classes at the Adelaide School of Mines.

Of course, the incongruity of this preparation for fame as a flyer is chiefly in the way the words fall upon the ear. A school of mines teaches other subjects beside mining. Wilkins, the college student, wanted to be an engineer. This early training provided an excellent background for the years of scientific adventuring in which he has engaged since. Sir Hubert was with Stefansson on his arctic expedition in 1913; a captain in the Australian flying corps during the war, and naturalist in Shackleton's antarctic expedition in 1921-22. In 1927 he performed the feat for which he was knighted by King George—flying across the arctic circle from Point Barrow, Alaska, to Spitzbergen, a distance of 2,100 miles. In 1929, in command of his own expedition, he co-operated with Commander Byrd in exploring the antarctic continent.

Far, far away all this seems from the school of mines classroom. Far away, too, no doubt, from the future as that youthful student visualized it. Other great men in the world's history have achieved fame from beginnings as remote from their later activities. The moral, if there is one, in these life stories seems to be that the surest way to train a boy for greatness is to let him grow up. Destiny—that incalculable mingling of divine and human forces—must do the rest. Great aviators will come from stranger haunts than a school of mines and no one should be surprised to learn of poets who once plied the needle.

MANITOBA'S INDUSTRIES

SURPRISING AS IT MAY SEEM to be to some of us, it is nevertheless a fact that Manitoba is to-day more industrial than agricultural. Mr. J. M. Davidson, of the Industrial Development Board of that province, tells us that amounts invested in industrial projects already exceed agricultural investments. Indeed, industry tends more and more to supersede agriculture in priority of place in annual production and revenue.

Of course, Manitoba is rich in natural resources, having more than $600,000,000 in ore reserves, 137,000 square miles of timber, and 20,000 square miles of water surface. The province is also extremely rich in metallic and non-metallic minerals. With an annual production of more than $165,000,000, moreover, Manitoba's 130 industrial plants have a yearly pay-roll of $35,000,000.

DR. SUTHERLAND SUMS IT UP

From The Times Report
"We had the Minister of Education expounding for two hours the expense accounts of former cabinet ministers," said Dr. Sutherland.
"We had the Minister of Mines rehearsing debates in the House of Commons and reviewing conditions in Arkansas for another two hours."
"We had the Attorney-General entertaining the House for two hours with the correspondence of one Andy Blyth and even reaching into the graves of two former premiers."
"We had the President of the Council relating at great length about $700 land transactions going back to 1906."
"All this was very helpful to the House and will, no doubt, cause the working people to enjoy paying the new 1 per cent income tax."
"Now we know why this government needs eleven ministers. Without an increase in the cabinet, they would not have had time to do all this research into the files and records of the past."

"But, in my opinion, had the ministers paid more attention to their duties and less to digging up ancient history for political speeches, we might not have to pass upon so unpalatable a budget as the Minister of Finance has laid before us."
Supporting his comparison of the increase in taxes, Dr. Sutherland said that a married man with $2,500 income and no children paid $7 income tax to-day, and would pay $32 under the new tax, an increase of 350 per cent, while if he had two children his tax would increase from $1 to $26, an increase of 2,600 per cent.
On the other hand, a man with $20,000 income paid $1,422 to-day and would be increased by the new tax only $300 or 14 per cent.
"The higher a man's income the less his taxes are increased under this budget," said Dr. Sutherland.

Across The Bay

A sudden respectability and a brooding peace settle on the House—and we are so friendly among ourselves that Mr. Manson joins Mr. Berry—to sink Mr. Twigg.

By H. B. W.

AFTER ITS recent lapse, the House reverted on Thursday to a state of excessive respectability. It was dull, boring and bored all afternoon, and as the agricultural committee was hearing the embattled milk farmers of the Fraser Valley, it hadn't the heart to sit at night. So far as interest is concerned the day can be written off safely as a total loss.

FOR THE moment, at least, the government has no more bombshells to throw or dirt to unload. Apparently its strategy was to crowd all its best sensations into two hectic days and to overwhelm the opposition and cheer the public all at once. On Thursday it seemed exhausted from the effort. Scarcely a cabinet minister spoke and the bomb throwers sat silent in their seats as if they considered the enemy so completely blown up as to require no further official attention. The enemy, however, was inconsiderate enough to appear less tired and blown up than the government, which is just what you would expect from a wicked and heartless opposition.

HAVING SPENT two days in foam and fury, we opened Thursday with a curious, brooding peace over everything. We started with Mr. Manson delivering a friendly lecture to the family circle on agricultural problems. When Farmer Manson is addressing the House he is assured of a neighborly reception such as Lawyer Manson is never accorded by the Conservative majority. And to Mr. Manson's credit it may be said that he is able to talk on farming quite as authoritatively as on law and politics. Many Conservatives think he could well ornament a farm far off in the wilderness somewhere, and they wish he would. It would save them a lot of trouble.

THIS FRIENDLY atmosphere continued when Mr. Pattullo prepared to demand that the government file all its correspondence with the authorities of the British Columbia University. Strangely enough, in this new era of altruism, Mr. Hinchliffe agreed to do everything that Mr. Pattullo wished. But then, as we reflected philosophically, Mr. Pattullo will find plenty of other proposals which he will have to denounce the government for refusing. The government will not remain in this humor long.

THAT WAS soon apparent. Mr. Pattullo and his friends soon had to attack the government on its administration of the university subdivision lands. Farmer Manson having retired and with him all the government's old friendliness, Lawyer Manson appeared to make a pungent analysis of the government's land policy. Mr. Loughheed, as Minister of Lands, replied at length with many figures to show how well the government is administering the university lands.

MR. HOWE having adjourned the argument, we went on to the recurring question of chiropractors in British Columbia. Mr. Twigg has fathomed a bill which would put chiropractors on a new professional basis, and over it many words will be shed before the session ends. Mr. Berry started to shed them with a proposal long enough to fill precisely two feet of white paper, closely typewritten. In a word, and not in the ceremonial terms of this assembly, Mr. Berry proposed that instead of passing on the status of chiropractors, the House refer the whole question to a royal commission.

AS AN introduction to this proposal Mr. Berry made the profound observation that man is fearfully and wonderfully made in a physical sense; and the longer Mr. Berry lived, and the more he observed the Legislature, the more convinced he was that man is fearfully and wonderfully made in a mental sense also. It was easy to understand Mr. Berry's deduction. Probably he was more confirmed in it than ever by the argument on points of order which followed.

MR. TWIGG examined the Berry resolution, held it aloft so that its full text of length could be observed, and called it a declaration of medical independence. Also, he questioned that a layman like Mr. Berry could have written it, and Mr. Berry readily admitted this to be true. Mr. Twigg thought not, and observed with great satisfaction that no one but a brother lawyer could have achieved such an extraordinary document. Anyway, Mr. Twigg made a lengthy and learned argument to prove that the motion was entirely out of order, and the prompt manner in which he pressed obscure parliamentary authorities to prove that it was out of order suggested that he had been forewarned that something of this sort was coming. We soon found ourselves deep in the authorities on procedure, in former Speakers' decisions and in the views of the late Premier Oliver, who was the best lay lawyer we have ever known.

THEREUPON an amazing and altogether delightful situation developed. Farmer Berry, the Conservative of Delta, found himself befriended and defended by Lawyer Manson, the Liberal of Omineca, against Lawyer Twigg, the Conservative of Victoria. The idea of any Conservative combining with Mr. Manson against a Conservative, or against anything, was so incredible that we could hardly believe our eyes. But it was true. Politics makes strange bedfellows and Mr. Manson and Mr. Berry seemed to be sleeping together under the chiropractors' bill in brotherly love and tenderness. None of these manoeuvres got far, however, for Mr. Speaker Davis reserved his decision on the complicated points of order raised by the lawyers, while the rest of the House wondered what it was all about.

THE NEW dental bill also was given a brief airing. This measure, which is designed to increase the powers of the council of the College of Dental Surgeons, as sponsored by Mr. Beatty of Victoria, seems assured of a rather rough ride through the House. The strongest lobby of the session has been proceeding for and against it, and both sides are confident of victory. Mr. Twigg didn't like the look of the bill any more than Mr. Berry liked Mr. Twigg's chiropractic measure. Debate on this matter also was held up, Mr. Twigg suggesting that the two sides get together and reach a compromise.

THIS CONCLUDED a quiet day, which probably I won't be so welcome like to regard the House as a continual source of free entertainment, but which was welcome to those who had to listen to the entertainment of the preceding day. If we can get a few more days like yesterday we may be finished by Easter after all.

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES

MARCH 20, 1906

(From The Times Files)

The Indian reservation question was again before the City Council last night, when it was decided to empower the mayor and a special committee to enter into an agreement with the provincial government for the acquisition of the reserve. For many years past this has been a troubled question with different city councils and provincial legislatures.

The importation of a new variety of game in British Columbia is now assured. Some days ago the officials of the Victoria and Vancouver clubs forwarded an order for six dozen capercaillie and black game, the number of each variety being about equally divided, and it is expected that the birds will reach here some time in October. Later on another lot will be brought out and distributed with the first on the lower mainland and Vancouver Island.

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity: Northern winds, continuing fair, with stationary or higher temperature.

Telegraphic reports from Alaska state that the salvage operation being conducted by the British Columbia Salvage Company of Esquimaux on the German tramp steamer Mariechan, ashore in False Bay, are advancing rapidly, and it is the expectation of those engaged in the work that an attempt will be made to float her in a few days.

Steamer Queen City will sail this evening for West Coast points. The vessel has taken aboard 20,000 feet of lumber to be used in furthering the work of constructing the new wharf at Mosquito Harbor, Clayoquot.

SAANICH SCHOOL BY-LAW

To the Editor:—In glancing over the report of a recent conference at the Royal Oak, on March 17, of the council and school board, at which a decision was made to erect three small high schools in the place of one large central building, I notice that mention is made of delegates representing the ratepayers of the municipality. I am sure that the ratepayers of the people these delegates act as representing their views.

For my own district, Ward Four, for instance, I understand Mr. Dewar voted, and "painted up" to ask, if I may, through your paper, what body of taxpayers made the appointment. We have an active ratepayers' association in the district, fully awake to our interests, to which many of us look for guidance in municipal affairs, and if a meeting has been held by them for the purpose of appointing a man to put forward our ideas I think it should have been given more publicity, in fairness to those of us who differ emphatically from the point of view of the delegate mentioned. I understand that some of the gentlemen refrained from voting, which was the only fair stance, recognizing that it could only be the expression of their own personal ideas, and not in any way representative.

aging to me. That his much-respected name should be associated with mine in an effort to awaken the people from their politically-doped sleep, is to me the hall-mark that stamps our honesty of purpose.

The sickening exhibition, in the House yesterday, of ministers and ex-ministers wrangling over the dead body of Sir Richard McBride, to which they had transferred their attention from a 15-cent ruler, should drive home my assertion that they, like Nero, are fiddling whilst Rome is burning. Mr. Twigg's disgraceful statement that the agent general's post was worth a $15,000 a year salary, should in times like these cause the workers seriously to think. It is of no interest to prove which side was in the right or wrong politically in this matter.

I had headed my letter "Too Much Government," a fallacy, of which the events of yesterday correct me; obviously we have no government. The "Becrimination" department was having a day out, for which we pay at the rate of, I believe, $8,000 per day. In the cause of the "New Thought" movement they are certainly excellent propagandists.

SINKING FUNDS

To the Editor:—The following extract from the 4928 report of the inspector of municipalities is most opportune:

"The condition of the sinking funds is unsatisfactorily improved, while the amount of outstanding taxes and the amount of the tax-sale lands in the hands of the municipalities shows a further reduction. One feature, however, which is not entirely satisfactory is the increase in very many cases in the tax rate, chiefly, of course, in those municipalities where the council have not yet decided to take the very necessary step of placing a substantial tax upon improvements. The load which is being placed upon unimproved lands to carry the cost of services afforded to those parts of the municipality which are improved is proving increasingly heavy, and the confiscation of unimproved lands is unfortunately still continuing. It is not, I think, fully realized that the owners of unimproved lands are a valuable asset to the municipality if they are allowed to continue in their ownership paying reasonable taxes until such time as their lands are required for actual use. I would respectfully suggest that the council in the interest of both the municipalities and the property owners if the statute was amended to provide a minimum of twenty-five per cent reduction of improvements to be taxable and a maximum of seventy-five per cent."

I shall be obliged if you can please find space for this.

JOHN DEAN.

MUNICIPAL CONDITIONS

To the Editor:—That the adjacent municipalities are imposing upon Victoria is a self-evident fact, in this district the farming element in Saanich is not included. Victoria has established a sewerage, water and school system, an up-to-date hospital, fire protection, library and a perfect system of paved roads with tram lines, parks, etc., that are used by the adjacent municipalities without regard to the investment account expended by the City of Victoria and the interest demanded upon her ratepayers. With the exception of the municipalities bordering upon her limits could not exist, for roads, sewerage, water, fire protection, etc., would place taxes beyond their powers of obligation.

Oak Bay has a high school system, Saanich has one under contemplation, with the proposed intention of borrowing for such a purpose. The high school in Victoria virtually borders on both these municipalities. If they had joined with Victoria to use one high school, meeting the investment on a pro rata basis, overhead could be curtailed and a more intensive and complete curriculum could have been established. Saanich, in any event, will be compelled to subsidize Victoria's transportation system, even in their own scattered municipality.

To live in a poorly-lighted and an unwarmed municipality, with a few main arteries, with a water, fire and sewerage system provided by a neighboring municipality, with a low assessment and a low tax rate, and to be employed in an adjacent one, taking advantage of its provisions without incurring any of its liabilities, may be provided but hardly fair. If Victoria refused to employ anyone outside its limits it would not be retaliation but protection to meet its obligations. By such actions during depression its unemployment problem could be reduced to a minimum, its mill rate could be reduced by the creation of more taxable assets, while improvements could be undertaken that would subscribe to invitation.

Reciprocity, on a basis of equality, is a jewel, retaliation, like exploitation, is abhorrent, but protection is necessary; so if these matters of such vital importance to Victoria are not brought to uniformity based on reciprocity these protective necessities will eventually take place.

SESSION'S FIRST

SENATE DEBATE

IS COMPLETED

Canadian Press

Ottawa, March 20.—Two of Canada's oldest Parliamentarians in point of service, Sir George Foster and Mr. Hon. George P. Graham, dealt with matters of national moment when speaking in the Senate yesterday, after which the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne was adopted.

As a former chairman of the Tariff Advisory Board, Senator Graham said he was pleased to know the government intended establishing another board. Business interests demanded a forum in which their tariff demands might be heard. It might be wise to have a tariff board established by statute, with its powers defined and limited by statute, but he warned the government to exercise great care in naming those powers. The people of Canada wanted the government, and not a tariff board, to fix duties.

Sir George Foster, who will be eighty-four September next, delved deeply into the causes of the present depression, setting forth the opinion that world-wide conditions were attributable largely to the last war.

Gave Friends Sound Security, Says Boorman

Broker, on Trial, Claims He Thought Investors Could Not Lose

Harry Eustace Boorman, head of the defunct B.C. Bond Corporation Limited, testified on his own behalf before Judge Lampman yesterday afternoon that most of the people he had approached regarding the company's $50,000 preferred stock issue were his friends, to whom he thought he was offering a safe investment.

D. S. Henry, who alleges Boorman secured two City of Buenos Aires $1,000 bonds and $500 cash from him by false pretences, a good friend of his, Boorman said, Henry's daughter worked in Boorman's office before she was married.

Although one prosecution witness said the B.C. Bond had never been solvent since its inception and profits shown were from client's surplus funds and bank borrowings, Boorman said this was absolute news to him and "it was crazy."

Boorman, in cross-examination, said if the bank had not pressed so hard for capital, the B.C. Bond would still be functioning.

The prosecution in the case, conducted by A. M. Johnson, K.C., finished at 3:20 o'clock yesterday afternoon and the defence followed right on until after 5 o'clock, when adjournment was taken until this morning. W. C. Moresby, K.C., is appearing for Mr. Boorman.

The first witness yesterday afternoon, as the prosecution continued was George O'Neil, city assessment commissioner, who testified the Adelphi and Sign buildings, with the land, were assessed at a total of $36,800 for taxation purposes.

Thomas Bailey, chartered accountant, gave evidence regarding audit of the books of the B.C. Bond Corporation made at the instigation of the Attorney-General. The balance sheet for 1929, he said, showed losses of $30,000. When questioned regarding the prospectus for the new share issue and an item which showed $32,000 profit, he said these must have been paid by use of client's money and sums borrowed from the bank.

"The company," he said, "was insolvent almost from its inception. There was a deficiency of working capital amounting in 1926 to $48,221; in 1927, $25,000; in 1928, $53,000; in 1929, $68,000."

The financial crash in October, 1929, affected the company's business to the extent that its securities were depleted in value and its financial position became even more serious. It financed itself through the bank and clients' surplus funds.

EARNINGS AND PROFIT
On cross-examination, Mr. Moresby asked witness to verify figures in account sheets dealing with affairs of the firm. There was some argument about the difference between the terms, earnings and profits it being pointed out that sums marked earnings in the sheets referred to gross profits, whereas profits would mean the gross profits, less the cost of operation. The 1929 balance sheet showed earnings from all departments of over $22,000, but it was necessary to deduct $82,342 from this to get the correct balance.

J. H. Bennett, superintendent of building for Royal Trust Company, was called to testify regarding the value of the Adelphi and Sign buildings. The Adelphi Building was not in good shape. It was 38 years old. The two buildings between them had a total rental value of about $4,000 and the upkeep was about $3,300. The only way to increase its value was to tear it down and rebuild, he claimed.

In concluding the case for the prosecution, Mr. Johnson put in documents relating to the conveyance of the property from the Royal Bank of Canada to H. E. Boorman and from Boorman to the B. C. Bond Building Company, showing there was a $10,000 mortgage on it and it was valued at $30,000 when those transactions were made two years ago.

DEFENCE OPENS
Opening the defence, Mr. Moresby said he did not think statements alleged to have been made by Boorman to Mr. Henry in regard to Pemberton & Son constituted false pretences and would deal mainly with the documentary evidence in the case. W. V. Allan, of Ismay Boston and Holden, was called first to identify balance sheets put out by that firm after investigating the B. C. Bond Company's books. Eric C. Clarkson of James and Clarkson, architects, was called regarding a letter of valuation of the Adelphi and Sign buildings but the letter was ruled out by the judge as Mr. James, whose signature appeared on the letter, was not present.

Mr. Moresby would have adjourned at this point to secure the evidence of Mr. James but decided, on the court's suggestion, to proceed, calling Louis Neelands, accountant for the B. C. Bond, who detailed the company's earnings in 1930 and repeated evidence in connection with the balance sheet.

Cross-examining, Mr. Johnson asked if the company was not hopelessly involved in 1930.

Mr. Johnson—I would not say that, the bank as high as $375,290 during the year.

Witness—Yes.

Mr. Johnson—And when you went into bankruptcy, how much did you owe?

Witness—About $250,000.

Mr. Johnson—I again suggest to you the company was hopelessly insolvent in September last year.

Witness—I know now it was but did not think so then. It was carrying on business.

Mr. Johnson—But the company only ceased to do business when the bank would not give it any more money and Logan and Bryan failed to transact its orders?

Witness—Yes.

BOORMAN TAKES STAND
Mr. Moresby then called the accused to the stand. Boorman took a file of papers and documents with him to the witness box and gave his direct evidence clearly and deliberately. In regard to the matter of Pemberton & Son, how Mr. Yarwood had come to him and asked if the Adelphi Building was for sale, Boorman had suggested he made an offer and after some negotiation Pemberton & Son suggested $40,000 cash and $20,000 in properties.

Boorman said he had wanted a greater amount in cash and then visited James and Clarkson, architects, to ascertain the valuation they made of the property for Pemberton. This firm, he learned, set the value at $70,000.

Of his dealings with the bank, the accused said they suddenly began pressing for money on no bid securities which they had been holding for a time prior to the panic of 1929 without question.

DECIDED TO ISSUE STOCK
"We then decided upon an issue of 50,000 preference shares posting the Adelphi Building as security," Mr. Stevens of the Royal Bank came into my office and offered to give us sixty days to put out the stock and turn over the money to make good the company's debt.

He told how he had explained to Mr. Henry that for $5,000 he would receive his 5,000 shares as well as a one-tenth interest in the Adelphi Building as security. He had valued the Adelphi Building at $50,000 for the purpose of the share issue.

"I explained to everybody that in the event of a liquidation they would have the preferred stock and in the other the security of the building," he said. "When I made these statements to Henry I believed they were true. He and I had been friendly for years. His daughter had worked in our office before getting married."

OFFERED TO FRIENDS
"I took this preferred stock and offered it to my friends whenever I could. I was quite sure it was a safe investment as we had been given sixty days by the bank to make up our deficit and the pressure was relieved."

Boorman said he was surprised that the Pemberton matter had apparently assumed such importance on the case. He did not realize, he said, that he had stressed it particularly.

"I told Henry we were also negotiating with the Pacific Stock and Bond Company in Vancouver and I was not so sure about the Pemberton matter because I would have had to form an auxiliary company, but was more sanguine about the other deal," he added. "I said to Mr. Henry because I was a friend of his."

Questioned if he had advised Mr. Henry to get rid of his City of Buenos Aires bonds, Boorman admitted he might have said they were risky because of revolutionary conditions in Argentina. He was also questioned on his alleged statement about a customer who "needed a wheelbarrow to take his coupons home."

ONLY A JOKE
"That was only a joke," Boorman said. "But as a matter of fact one of our clients had made the remark in a laughing manner and probably that was not the only joke in the conversation with Mr. Henry. We were quite friendly."

Boorman denied that any of the statements made by Mr. Henry were false to his knowledge. They were not made with intent to deceive.

"How about Mr. Bailey's statement that the company had not made a profit from 1926 on?" asked Mr. Moresby.

"That's the first I've heard of it," Boorman replied. "Unless there's something wrong with my mentality, it's crazy. How could we have been using clients' money when we were making profits of from $20,000 to $40,000 a year?"

Mr. Johnson started his cross-examination at 4:30 o'clock, but was still going when the court adjourned at 5:06 o'clock. Boorman continued to argue with Mr. Johnson and carefully sought the exact meaning of each question before answering.

WAS WORTH IT
Asked if he really thought the Adelphi Building which he bought for $30,000 was worth $70,000, he replied he still did. The bank, he said, had paid $197,290 for it in the first place. Due to a slump in the buildings of the immediate area it had dropped in value but in the last year or so the district had been improved and its value had increased.

He admitted that in talking to Mr. Henry he had not mentioned the unpaid mortgage on the building, but said it was planned to pay off the $10,000 owing on it from the share issue.

Mr. B. C. Bond was to raise money by shares to pay off the mortgage of another company," asked Mr. Johnson.

Witness—Yes, but we had a $5,000 interest in the B. C. Bond Building Company.

Mr. Johnson—Now, on another angle. I suggest to you it was a deliberate fraud for you to show earnings of $32,000 when the audited statement shows a loss of $30,000 in 1929.

Witness—There is an explanation. Mr. Johnson—But you did not explain it to Mr. Henry.

Witness—No.

Mr. Johnson—Just like you did not explain the mortgage.

Witness—The mortgage was a different thing.

DIDN'T GET ALL
After questioning Boorman regarding the price of the Buenos Aires bonds Mr. Johnson pointed out that since they had been turned over at a price of 97, the company had $60 coming from Mr. Henry which was not shown in the statement. "I suggest you were so greedy to get those bonds you did not care what price you paid for them," he said.

"I was not even anxious to get them because the bank had relieved pressure by giving us sixty days," Boorman replied.

Boorman said he had not stated Pemberton were broke, but might have mentioned something about financial difficulties.

Mr. Johnson—You had this prospectus issued to lead anyone to believe you were increasing your capital?

Witness—Yes, I believed that myself.

Mr. Johnson—Yet you were doing it because the bank was pressing you?

Witness—With that $50,000 and other propositions under way, we could have carried on alright. Blame the bank for what happened. These investors were safe, they had the building as security.

After Mr. Johnson had questioned Boorman regarding the final disposition of the bonds of the company, the bank, and had pointed out that Henry never received his full 400 shares of common stock, the court adjourned until this morning.

neither the plans nor the prices had been finally approved.

CRITICIZES CONTRACT
After denouncing the contract made with the firm of which Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen and Gen. H. A. Clark, former Conservative M.P. were directors, Mr. Manson said it would almost seem that the Tolmie Government were determined to make as poor a showing with the university lands as possible, just as they had done with Sumas and Oliver.

Mr. Manson detailed the terms of the contract. The company is to get $5,000 a year for management; 10 per cent commission on sales up to $1,500, and 7½ per cent above that; 7½ per cent on leases, based on the sale value of the property; 5 per cent on all rentals (worth $170 a month alone); control of all insurance, amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars; discount on the water rates, special fees for inspections, and many other considerations. Office space was provided rent free by the government and the government was to pay 50 per cent of advertising.

All this was given to a new firm not experienced in the Vancouver realty field, he said.

"I cannot even pay the interest on my own purchase direct to the minister any more," said Mr. Manson, referring to his own house in the area. "I have to give it to the company, which deducts 5 per cent."

Selling the lots at $800, said Mr. Manson, was slaughtering the resources of the people of the province, probably so as to keep the price below the $1,500 and give Gen. Clark's company the maximum commission of 10 per cent.

LOWERING STANDARDS
"This government had done everything possible to destroy the value of these lands, poor management by Col. Daykin, lowering the standard and prices, and creating uncertainty as to the future," said Mr. Manson. "Even in clearing the new area they have chopped down every tree with no regard for aesthetic considerations."

He charged that the cost of clearing was greater in the new area than in the old. Instead of getting higher values for the new land the prices were being reduced below what the pioneers had paid.

Mr. Loughheed said that there was $2,422,000 invested in the area and only $235,000 returned.

He claimed the contract with the London & Western was a good one and had the approval of the real estate fraternity. The cost was only $480 a month, against $1,192 under the old government. His object was to get revenue from the lands.

In view of former statements of Mr. Loughheed, which he claimed had not been fulfilled, T. D. Pattullo, opposition leader, refused to be satisfied with the assurance that the small lots and low prices would not be adopted.

PLEDGES BROKEN
Hon. S. L. Howe and Hon. R. L. Maitland had pledged that there would be no vandalism in the university area, but recent developments approached close to that condition, he said.

The comparison of administrative cost was not fair, he charged, because the $1,192 included the selling and collecting services for which the London & Western was to receive extensive fees.

He maintained that but for the setback the area had received from the present government's course the revenue from the lands would now be sufficient to pay all fixed charges on

QUEEN OPENS GIRL GUIDES' HEADQUARTERS

Brilliant Ceremony in London To-day; Handsome Building Cost $1,250,000

Canadian Press
London, March 20.—Girl Guides all over the world have converged in a thousand different ways to the new headquarters of the organization which was opened by Her Majesty Queen Mary to-day.

The building is in the vicinity of Buckingham Palace, and cost $1,250,000.

The Queen was received by Mary, Countess of Harewood (Princess Mary), who is president of the Girl Guides' Association. The association numbers 893,000 members all over the world with 519,000 of them in the British Isles.

St. Joseph's Annual Appeal Met Generous Response Yesterday

Many generous gifts of linen and cash were left at St. Joseph's yesterday afternoon in response to the annual linen shower, the recreation room of the nurses' home presenting an animated appearance as a continual stream of visitors came and went throughout the afternoon. Guests on arrival were welcomed in the drawing room by a reception committee including Mrs. Angus Campbell, Mrs. James Adam, Mrs. H. F. Crowe, Mrs. A. Roberts and Mrs. T. S. McLaughlin.

Baskets of Japanese and cherry blossom, arranged by Mrs. Alex McDermott, general convenor of the linen shower, adorned the main recreation room, in which tea was served at a table arranged with a bowl of tulips, narcissi and a bowl of white and pink flowers.

A delightful feature of the afternoon was the musical programme arranged by Mrs. Chas. E. Wilson, which included songs by Mrs. Stavrou, Mrs. John Corbett, Mrs. D. B. McCann, Mrs. Chas. E. Wilson, James Hunter and C. Conyers. Mrs. C. C. Warr and Miss Gloria Wilson shared the role of accompanist.

LEADING LADY OF SEALING SHIP FILM SHOCKED

Miss Louise Huntington Says Frissell Was Warned Year Ago of Danger

By HUBBARD KEAVY
Associated Press Writer
Hollywood, Cal., March 20.—The sealing ship disaster among the ice pans of northern Newfoundland that took the lives of more than a score of men was virtually a real life re-enactment of the motion picture drama filmed there a year ago by Varick Frissell, missing leader of the Viking expedition.

Frissell, who left St. Johns with the ill-fated steamer Viking, was on his way back to the seal hunting wastes to obtain additional scenes for his picture, "White Thunder," when the explosion blew the ship to pieces last Sunday evening. Frissell and at least twenty others are reported still missing.

"White Thunder"—so named because it aptly describes the roar of the ice break-up—is the story of men separated from their ship, floating helplessly to a frozen death.

TOOK WARNINGS LIGHTLY

Although cautioned that the dangers of a sealing expedition were many, Frissell, according to Louise Huntington, who played the lead in the picture, took the warnings lightly. Miss Huntington, a former stage actress, here now in pictures, made her first appearance before a camera in "White Thunder." A year ago, she accompanied the twenty-seven-year-old New York director and his party as far as St. Johns, where the romantic sequences of the story were made.

Frissell brought his picture here last fall and made an unsuccessful attempt to sell it to one of the major companies.

"The ice scene taken by Varick last year could not have been improved upon," Miss Huntington said to-day. "and I cannot understand why he went back there for additional shots."

"The romantic part of the story was its only weakness, but that might have been refilled here or in New York or any place."

"He had nearly a million feet of film, most of it made by himself, of the great ice break-up. I'm sure he couldn't have obtained more thrilling scenes than he already had."

"Varick loved adventure and I believe he went back there this year partly because he so enjoyed the rigorous life he would have to lead for several months."

This trip was Frissell's fourth into the Far North. Several years ago he first went as a member of a seal hunting ship crew. It was on that trip that he conceived the idea of filming a motion picture in that locale and with the hardships of Newfoundland's great industry as the basis of his plot.

The usual did not appeal to Frissell; it was the unusual. When he was here last December, he told of his plan for filming sound pictures in little known places of the world, his theory being that wherever there is a struggle for existence there is good drama.

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE UNITED

Miss Nellie A. Tyre Becomes Bride of Harold Holroyd

Spring flowers were used in the decoration of the First United Church for the wedding yesterday evening of Nellie Anderson, eldest daughter of Mr. Robert Tyre, Corral Street, and the late Robert Tyre of Drummond, Scotland, to Harold Holroyd, youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. Holroyd, of Man. Rev. W. G. Wilson performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Donald Cameron, the bride looked pretty in a long gown of white lace over a pink dress, with long sleeves and a tiered skirt. She wore a veil of white net caught with orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of red roses and lilies.

The groom was attended by Mr. Walter Talbot as best man, and Mr. Herbert Pickup and Mr. Robert Tyre acted as ushers. Mr. Harold Gurney presided at the organ.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother, where the decorations were carried out in Japanese plum blossoms and daffodils. The young couple received their friends under a large pink and white tent at tall blue baskets filled with daffodils on each side of the alcove in which they stood. The bride and groom were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Tyre, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Donald Cameron, aunt of the bride.

The bride's table was covered with a beautiful cloth, an heirloom of Mrs. Tyre's, 100 years old. A three-tiered wedding cake ornamented with Scotch favors, sent from Scotland, formed a most attractive centerpiece, surrounded with pink, green and yellow tulle. Mrs. R. A. Tyre, Misses Jessie Moir, Alice Moir and Mamie Tyre assisted in serving the dainty buffet supper.

The bride was the recipient of many lovely gifts, among which was a handsome electric clock from the manager and mechanical staff of the Vancouver Island Coach Lines, with which the groom is connected, and a beautiful three-piece silver tea service from the former co-workers of the bride at the New Method Laundry.

Mr. and Mrs. Holroyd left for Vancouver and Seattle, where the honeymoon will be spent. Upon their return they will reside at 1739 Second Street.

Cures Announced On Saint's Day

Canadian Press
Quebec, March 20.—Two miracles were announced yesterday by Rev. Abbe Eugene Brunet, chaplain and director of the Pious Union of St. Joseph. They were credited to the intercession of St. Joseph, foster father of Christ, whose feast day was celebrated with great solemnity here and drew more than 15,000 people to St. Joseph Oratory, a shrine devoted to the saint.

Lucien Poliquin, twelve-year-old son of Eugene Poliquin, of L'Amouille, Quebec, suffering from severe intestinal troubles, was said to have been cured one hour before the time set for an operation that had been believed necessary.

Miss Yvonne Despres, Quebec, who has used crutches for the last nine years because of foot trouble that several operations had failed to remedy, declared she had been able to walk into the oratory without help of any kind.

MACHINE KEEPS BOY ALIVE

Charles Caughey, seven, was convalescing from scarlet fever when diphtheria attacked him, so he was rushed to St. Francis Hospital at Evanston, Ill., and placed in a mechanical respirator, or "mechanical lung," which kept him alive. Charles is shown here in the respirator, attended by Dr. J. L. Amorose and a nurse.

YOUR BABY and MINE

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

MODERN BABIES, DRESSED OR UN-DRESSED, ARE COMFORTABLY CLAD

Our ideas about fashions in baby garments are undergoing a rapid change. During the summer baby now wears a band and diaper and a sweet smile. When he is entirely clothed, he adds one or two garments, a thin dress and possibly a thin petticoat, both of which are just twenty inches long.

One of my "Admiring Readers," so she says, wants to know if it would not be extremely modern and sensible to use a dress modeled on one just received from Cuba. Here is her letter.

VERY BRIEF
"A friend of mine sent me a dress from Cuba when my first baby arrived. It was an adorable affair, and to my great surprise it reached only to the top of baby's diapers. My friend told me all small babies are dressed that way and I saw the sense of it. Why should a baby have a dress with a wet tail clinging to him? It certainly adds no warmth, it wrinkles under him and is a nuisance to mother and baby. People will say I am crazy, but I am going to make all the dresses like that and I know that I am very sensible indeed."

"This dress was in two parts, the under part had sleeves, and over this a little sleeveless vest. The happy Cuban baby has on nothing but a diaper and this little sleeveless vest in the warmest weather and his body gets plenty of healthful air and sunshine. Our summers suggest the appropriateness of some such style, do they not?"

WHY EXPOSE DIAPER?

I think we do even better than the Cubans, if your explanation of their dress styles is correct, for our babies wear but a band and diaper. Why should one put on a dress with a 'tail' and then leave the most un-aesthetic portion of a baby's wardrobe, the diaper, exposed? That would look pretty much like a man in his underwear, correctly dressed as to shirt and tie. This garment was undoubtedly cunning, but sensible it is not. Why bother to drag on two garments when one is quite enough? All baby dresses are so simple now and so short that they hamper the baby not at all when he must be dressed. When he doesn't need to be dressed, even one garment is superfluous.

Perhaps, in your enthusiasm, you have incorrectly described the dress, but I honestly think that since your baby is not a Cuban, our way of dressing is less conspicuous, just as sensible, and results, when baby is dressed, in covering his undergarments. You mentioned the deposit on diapers after boiling. Perhaps some water-softener in your water would end this. It is something most mothers have to wrestle with. More soap in the water in which you boil the diapers ought to help, too, followed by a good rinsing, and an airing in the sun.

UNITED SERVICES PLAN BIG BALL

Second Annual Institute Function at Empress April 10

One of the outstanding events of the post-Lenten social season will be the second annual ball of the United Services Institution of Vancouver Island, which is to be held at the Empress Hotel on Friday, April 10. So successful was the initial ball held under these auspices last year, that it is anticipated that there will be a big demand for tickets, which are to be strictly limited in number.

The committees in charge of the various details are as follows: Invitations, Major V. G. F. Barton, Lieut.-Commander R. E. S. Bidwell, and Lieut. R. Love; decorations, Lieut.-Commander R. C. I. Edwards; soup, W. V. T. Allen and Major J. G. Bycroft; house committee, Lieut.-Col. W. S. Latta, Capt. H. L. Rose, Capt. L. de S. Duke, Major P. T. Stern, Dr. John Harper and Major W. B. Hunter. Tickets may be obtained from any of the foregoing, or from Col. H. T. Goodland, honorary secretary of the institution.

SENTENCED TO DEATH

Lahore, India, March 20.—More than two years after the outrage occurred, Abdul Ghanai was sentenced to-day to death on his conviction for throwing a bomb into a crowd returning from the Dushera festival in 1928. The explosion caused ten deaths and injured fifty-eight persons.

Perfect Sight—Without Glasses

Practically every known eye trouble—even partial blindness—has been benefited and entirely cured by a new technique. DAFFODIL TEA A BIG SUCCESS

Mrs. S. F. Tolmie Opened King's Daughters' Annual Affair Yesterday

Daffodils and spring flowers of every hue and fragrance lent a vivid splash of color to the King's Daughters rest room yesterday afternoon when the order held its annual daffodil tea, with much success Mrs. S. F. Tolmie, who was welcomed by Mrs. L. H. Hardie, district president, performed the opening ceremony with a graceful little address in which she commended the philanthropic work of the order. Mrs. R. R. Watson, vice-president, assisted in receiving the many visitors who patronized the affair.

A delightful little musical programme included vocal solos by Mrs. O. L. Jull, and Mrs. Williams, with Mrs. Shaw as accompanist. A delicate tea was served at tables centred with daffodils, the arrangements being in the hands of Mrs. J. McElfish, Mrs. A. Harvey, Miss Thain, Mrs. W. J. Whitlock, Mrs. H. D. Brumpton, Mrs. A. M. Perry, Mrs. Kent, Mrs. Lloyd and Mrs. Foster, assisted by the Misses E. Snow, B. Rogers, Josephine Englehart Gill, Clearhine and Audrey Beare. Mrs. R. A. Playfair presided at the seat of customs.

Masses of daffodils of every variety, iris, narcissus and other spring flowers found ready sale at the flower stall in charge of Miss Bertha Morley, convener, and Mrs. P. C. Elliott, assisted by Miss Nan Morley. Dainty wares were sold at the stall of home cooking, which was convenered by Mrs. William Russell, assisted by Mrs. W. M. Allan, Mrs. D. D. Muir and Mrs. J. H. Dorman. Miss Kathleen Roberts conducted a popular candy stall, assisted by Mrs. A. A. Campbell and Miss Amy Conyers.

Sun Beau Odds On Favorite To Win World's Richest Horse Race

THE SPIDER'S MIRROR

Ed Lewis Appears Headed Towards Fourth Wrestling Title

Lewis and Sandow Form Greatest Team in History of Mat Game

Sunday Will Be Real Fiesta Day at Agua Caliente Race Track

Great Duel Promised 'Tween Sun Beau and Sandy Ford in Handicap

ED "STRANGLER" LEWIS, the grand old man of the wrestling game, appears to be on the way to another world heavyweight championship. Wednesday evening at Los Angeles, Lewis went to work on big Everett Marshall, giant Colorado grappler, and polished him off in two straight falls and without a great deal of trouble either. By beating Marshall, Lewis earned himself a bout with Ed Don George, the champion, and it would not be surprising if Lewis won. Lewis in recent matches has beaten Marshall and Henri De Giane, giant Frenchman, in straight falls and appears to be in the best shape in years.

Much of the credit for the present comeback of Lewis is due Billy Sandow, his manager, who has picked the big fellow to the world's title on three different occasions and who has kept the former titleholder around the top of the heavyweight division during the nineteen years they have been together as manager and wrestler.

Lewis and Sandow are rated as the greatest wrestling team in the game has ever known. With Lewis in the ring and Sandow in his corner directing the grappler's every move with a master's eye, signals known only to themselves, this pair are recognized as the hardest in the mat sport to beat. Very few have been able to accomplish the feat.

For almost two years now Sandow has permitted Lewis to do all his own training, but out his own mat battles, and go into the ring and wrestle without any outside help. Lewis has practically been "on his own" since his first meeting with Gus Sonnenberg. When Lewis returned from Australia about four months ago, Sandow took personal charge of the headlock artist's training. Now Lewis appears in better physical condition than he has been in the last decade. Sandow has been grooming Lewis for a crack at George and his fourth world's title.

Sunday will be a big day at the Agua Caliente race track, when the second renewal of the "world's richest race," the $100,000 Agua Caliente Handicap will be staged. The fourteen-year-old stakes of both morning and afternoon, that proved a hit with the fans last season, will be repeated.

The sport will start in the morning with the first bugle call at 10:30 o'clock. Four events will be run off. This will take until noon. Then there will be a rest period until 1:15 o'clock when a programme of ten races will be in order. The big handicap will probably be the seventh event on the afternoon card.

The nominees for the handicap have been showing unusually well. Derby winner Jim Croft's UP, reeled off a mile and a furlong in 1:54 3-5. Challenger Second went the same distance in 1:54 flat. Plucky Play did it in 1:54 2-5. Last season's winner sent the same distance, fighting against the fit, in 1:56, and Alexander Pantages hung up 1:55 3-5.

Sandy Ford, invading thoroughbred from Miami, is all set for the handicap. The advent of a Miami opponent for Sun Beau, the favorite, has lent additional interest to the running of the handicap. In Sandy Ford the Miami turf has sent its foremost representative. Sandy having proved his fitness in recent contests by being a three time winner at Miami. In his final victory he packed 123 pounds and ran a mile in 1:38 2-5.

Sandy Ford thundered through the portals of fame last April when he proved the 30 to 1 victor of the Dixie Handicap. Maryland's great early classic for all aged horses at a mile and three-eighths. Then he won the Seagram Cup at the Woodbine track, Toronto, and was second in six other stakes in 1930, including the Prince George at Bowie, the Excelsior at Jamaica, the Seaside at Empire City, and the late in the fall he finished second to Sun Beau at Toronto. The one-eyed wonder's complete 1930 record is as follows: Stars, twenty-one; first, six; second, seven; third, two; total winnings, $37,000.

Jean Borotra Wins Way to Two Finals in Indoor Tourney

New York, March 20.—Jean Borotra, outstanding French favorite in the men's national indoor championship tournament, gained the final round in both singles and doubles yesterday, while Frank Shields and Berkeley Bell entered the semi-final singles bracket and met today to decide who will play Borotra.

Borotra defeated Perrine G. Rocka-fellow of New York in the singles semi-final, 6-4, 7-5, 6-4, and then paired with his native teammate, Christian Bousset, to capture their semi-final doubles match with team of Bell and Merritt Cutler of New York. This French pair gained their victory at 6-3, 8-6, 10-8.

Ten Expected To Face Barrier At Caliente Sunday

Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Great Thoroughbred is Quoted at 4 to 5 Two Days Before $100,000 Handicap Will Be Run at Mexican Track; Lady Broadcast, The Choctaw and Mike Hall Rated as Greatest Threats to Favorite; Lady Broadcast in Fast Workout Yesterday; McGonigle and Ervast Will Be Withdrawn.

San Diego, Cal., March 20.—With only two days left in which to put the finishing touches of training on the racers who will compete in the rich Agua Caliente Handicap Sunday, it appeared likely early to-day that a field of ten will compete for the $100,000 prize which will go to the winner. And, as the field became shorter through prospective and actual withdrawals, there was apparently little change in public sentiment as reflected by the future book prices posted at the Agua Caliente racetrack. In that list Willis Sharpe Kilmer's great Sun Beau, striving for the record of being the greatest money winner of all time, has remained a consistent favorite. For several days he has been odds-on choice.

Late yesterday evening Sun Beau's odds were quoted as 4 to 5. He had been held at 3 to 5 for several days before that. The reason for the change is seen in the time form shown by several of the other contestants. One of these is Lady Broadcast, who showed sparkling speed several weeks ago in her first attempt at Agua Caliente in a sprint, which she won impressively, and who has kept to that form ever since. Yesterday between races she showed a brilliant workout, dashing seven furlongs in 1:25 with ease and then going on for a full mile and a quarter in 1:06 3-5, being under a minute and pulling a large part of that time. Her price was cut to 4 to 1 yesterday evening.

CHOCTAW HAS SUPPORT

There are still plenty of supporters, however, for other horses in the list. One such is The Choctaw, lightweight threat of the bunch. He worked out a mile and a quarter in 2:03 yesterday. That is slow time, but the Choctaw did a whizzing race a few days ago and he will take twelve pounds off his impost of that race when he starts Sunday.

Another highly favored runner is the seven-year-old Mike Hall, sturdy runner in distance races. Still another is Alexander Pantages, named for the vaudeville magnate, who bought him. And another is Hal Price Headley's Pigeon Hole, who clicked off a mile in a workout yesterday in 1:40 4-5, hard held. Pigeon Hole and Mike Hall will run coupled as an entry in the big race, and Trainer Walter Taylor says he believes they will have to be reckoned with.

McGonigle, notorious as a bad horse at the post, where his antics cause long delays, probably will not start, it was reported yesterday evening. He ran a miserable race in the feature event yesterday, after delaying the start for ten minutes.

Ervast, western hope, owned by Baron Long, local sportsman, will be withdrawn in 10-day, his owner says. Ervast had to be taken out of training a few weeks ago and after that the time was too short to get him into shape, his trainer, Walter Fenwick, said.

The probable field, as it shaped up early to-day, was as follows: Sun Beau, Pigeon Hole, Mike Hall, Alexander Pantages, Curuso, Lady Broadcast, Plucky Play, the Choctaw, Sandy Ford and De Swasey. J. W. Marchbanks, De Swasey, lacking much chance in the stakes, may be run as a complimentary entry.

Scotland will be lacking in the personality of Nelson, who has lost his place after playing twenty-five international matches. It is expected that the new half, Logan, will be the brains of the team. He is the only new cap. He will be a great menace to England with the three-quarter line, where, in addition to the inclusion of the Argylls, Glen Ford at centre, the famous partnership of Ian Smith and MacPherson will be renewed.

Scotland looks to hold a winning card with their pack, whose solidity withstood the fierce Irish onslaughts at Dublin. They feel the least Scotland can do is to get a draw.

G. P. Player Is Re-elected Head of Cricket Club

G. P. Player, popular president of the Wanderers' Cricket Club was returned to office on Wednesday when the club's members met to elect officers and draw up plans for the season. G. H. Walton was named vice-president; Hubert Lethaby, captain; H. A. Darcus, vice-captain; and R. H. Moffatt, honorary secretary-treasurer.

These men, along with F. Bosson, A. J. Collett, R. A. Wilcox and G. Austin, were elected to the executive committee.

Brigadier-General J. Sutherland Brown was selected as honorary president, and the following were chosen as honorary vice-presidents: Hon. R. H. Pooley, Lieut-Colonel A. V. Trevelyan, J. Douglas Macey, H. A. Tomlin, B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake and Dr. A. B. Hudson.

The meeting decided to continue competition in the Victoria and District Cricket Association. The team's home grounds will again be at Work Point Barracks, which has been secured through the kindness of the military authorities. Anyone wishing to join the club is asked to communicate with the secretary at Alma Place.

Reports showed the club in good order and indicated 1931 promised to be a highly successful season.

BUCKS BEAT LIONS AND END SEASON

Portland Winds Up Coast Hockey League Schedule With 5 to 2 Win

Defeat of Vancouver Gives Seattle First Place; Play-offs Open Monday

Portland, Ore., March 20.—The Portland Buckaroos to-day were packing away their skates and padded clothing. The hockey season ended for them yesterday evening when they defeated the Vancouver Lions, 5 to 2.

The Bucks didn't want to beat the Lions, but they were determined to give the home folks their money's worth in the final game of the season. The defeat of the Lions automatically gave Seattle first place in the league, which meant Vancouver will have to play the first game in the league play-offs at home, while the second and third games will be played at Seattle. The play-off starts next Monday.

The Bucks had a grudge against the Lions, and they had hoped the Lions would be able to take the long end of the score here yesterday evening. Coupez opened hostilities for Portland in seven minutes of the first period, when he received a pass from Armstrong and shoved it through Goalie Jackson. Ten minutes later Osmundson received a pass from Jerwa and beat Andy Aitkenhead to tie the score. Army Armstrong put the Bucks ahead again sixteen seconds later with a long shot that fooled Jackson.

EVANS GETS COUPLE
Jimmy Evans made it 3 to 1 for Portland in the second period in three minutes, but just before the chucker ended Carr took a pass from Blyth and beat the puck past Aitkenhead.

It was Evans again who scored Portland's fourth goal, this time on a pass from Maher. McGoldrick closed the season's scoring on home ice, sending home a pass from Herman Runge.

THE LINE-UPS
Vancouver—Jackson; Redpath and Arnott; Jerwa, Sanderson and Dunn. Subs: Carr, Blyth, Pettigrew, Aitken and Osmundson.
Portland—Aitkenhead; Roulet and Runge; Coupez and Armstrong. Subs: Teel, Evans and McGoldrick. Officials—Duncan and Riekey.

Millionaires Win Over Oakland Team
Los Angeles, March 20.—The Los Angeles Millionaires won a 4 to 1 victory yesterday evening over the Oakland Seals in a California professional ice hockey league game.

Jack Picken of the Millionaires was the star of the game, scoring twice, once in the first and again in the last period.

Morenz Has Only One-point Lead in Scoring Race

Leaders in the various departments of the National Hockey League follow:

CANADIAN SECTION
Team—Canadians, played 43, won 26, lost 10, tied 7, 59 points.
Most points (goals and assists)—Morenz, Canadians, 28 goals, 20 assists, 48 points.
Most goals—Morenz, 28; and Conacher, Toronto, 28.
Most assists—Primeau, Toronto, 28.
Most shutouts—Toronto, 8; Canadians, 8; Americans, 8.
Most penalties—Burke Canadians, 91 minutes.

AMERICAN SECTION
Team—Boston, played 43, won 27, lost 10, tied 6, 60 points.
Most points (goals and assists)—Gondolfow, Detroit, 24 goals, 23 assists, 47 points.

Victoria City to Clash With Pimley and Ritchie in Roller Hockey Fixture

With all their hopes and aspirations based on a victory over the league-leading Pimley & Ritchie squad in the feature roller hockey game at the Gray Line rink this evening, Victoria City, third place team in the senior division, will take the floor at full strength. The match may decide whether or not they will replace the Jokers in the finals for the city title.

In the intermediate loop, Cougars and Canadians will clash at 7:30 o'clock. The city boys are expected to put up the best battle of their career this evening in order to gain a place in the play-offs. But they will have to show more than ordinary skill and speed to beat the cyclamen.

Frank Whitford will referee. The teams will be as follows: Pimley & Ritchie—Banks, Wallace, Bosom, Thompson, Reid, J. Carlow, Pellet, Shoultice, B. Carlow and Taylor.

Victoria City—Westdale, De Blacoutiere, Woods, Barnswell, Simpson, McPhee, Doherty, Drysdale and Simmons. Cougars—Holmes, Okell, Secular, Brown, Hynes, Doherty, Barnswell and Stewardson.

Canadians—Timothy, Essler, Robertson, Anderson, Palmer, Leake, Patullo, Stringer, Barr and Blomfield.

Miss Hicks shot an 81 in the final round yesterday, Miss Bright had 90, which her handicap reduced to 82.

Helen Hicks Wins Florida Tournament
Augusta, Ga., March 20.—Helen Hicks, Howlett, L.I., yesterday was credited with winning the Augusta women's invitation golf tournament with a card of 326 for 72 holes, though she was tied in net scores by Honor Bright of Niagara, Ont.

Club officials settled their difficulty by listing the Hewlett player as champion.

Young's Try Gives Oaklands Title of School Rugby Kings

Lone Score Early in Second Half Beats Willows in Final Game for 110-pound School Rugby Honors and Curtis Cup; Young Players Show Speed and Trickiness in Fast Game; Oak Bay Team Puts Up Good Fight.

A heady play and smart running by Teddy Young, fast-thinking inside three-quarters gave Oaklands School rugger the Curtis Cup final in a splendid exhibition of rugby played between that team and the Willows at Victoria High School grounds yesterday. The final score read 3 to 0. The cup is emblematic of the city school championship in the 110-pound class.

Making a nice catch when Gardiner attempted a relief kick in his own twenty-five seven minutes after the start of the second half, Young streaked for the line, out-running the Oak Bay team's backs and going over near the corner for the lone tally of the day. With both teams virtually evenly balanced the game proved one of the best seen in the series. Fast running and remarkably good plays, engineered by the youngsters, brought rounds of cheering from the rival supporters on the sidelines.

Although the Oaklands boys merited their victory, it was a hard battle for the staunch Willows players to lose. In the first half the Oak Bay boys appeared to have a slight edge, but just as they were about to produce the necessary punch to get over.

Oaklands went down from the start, but lost ground when "Red" Fisher let the Willows forwards back to centre on a good dribble. The Oak Bay lads continued to press and eventually forced the city school fullback to touchdown for a safety kick.

Alex Anderson, tricky little half for Oaklands, broke fast around a scrum in his own ground to take play back to centre. Hodgson led the next rush to the Willows line, but Bryden cleared in one of the closest plays of the first half.

Willows followed down and forced at the corner as the half ended. After the rest interval Oaklands raced down to the Willows fifteen-yard line and held play there in a series of scrums and bumps. Alex Anderson tried a drop-kick but the ball went wide.

From the resulting twenty-five kick, Ted Young caught and punted back into the Oak Bay team's territory. Anderson took the fullback before he had a chance to clear. Hodgson gained ground on a punt shortly after, but Bryden returned and Oak Bay pressed.

Nothing daunted, the city school swarmed back into the Willows ground. Young attempted a field goal, but missed. Smashing back the Willows attack and bottling every three-quarter play they attempted, Oaklands remained in the Oak Bay fifteen's twenty-five.

LONE TRY
Gardiner made a gallant attempt to kick clear, sending the ball to his own twenty-five. Young caught and raced for the corner, handing off two Willows backs before he got across the line and circled. Bill Hodgson made a fine attempt to convert, but the wind blew the ball wide.

Willows fought back doggedly from the kick-off and held play in Oaklands end for some time before they were again forced back by the kick-and-run play of the city school.

Twice Young made spectacular gains in quick succession, but each time the Willows line held. Oaklands had a chance to increase their tally when they were awarded a free kick in front of the Oak Bay goal, but the ball sailed wide.

On a concerted attack the Oaklands forwards swarmed down to the corner, holding the Willows defence on their own line. With their backs to the wall the Oak Bay boys held out and engineered a good attack before the game closed.

For the size of the players, the teams put up a splendid game, both showing plenty of fight and a fair knowledge of the game. Fraser Lister refereed and the teams lined up as follows: Oaklands—Young, Bone, Wilkinson, Chisholm, Chisholm, Berry, Hodgson, Alex. Anderson, McCoy, Bray, Noel, Blackstock, Price, Murray and D. Chisholm.

Willows—Gardiner, Bryden, Murdoch, Russell, Oles Murray, Briggs, D. Fisher, G. Fisher, Wilson, McNeill, H. Brown, Arter, McLeod and Turner.

PRESENTS CUP
Following the game, P. F. Curtis, donor of the cup, presented the trophy to the captain of the winners, urging both teams to keep up the game and paying particular tribute to the way in which they had played.

Don Fraser Gives Lee Roberts Good Lesson in Boxing

Spokane, Wash., March 20.—Don Fraser, Spokane, welterweight, gave a six-round boxing lesson to Lee Roberts, Spokane, a keeping but lesser experienced scrapper in their headline bout yesterday evening.

Red Vandervert, Spokane, lightweight, thrashed Young Jack Dempsey, Wells, in six rounds.

Johnny Walker of Spokane, declassified Ace Conlon, also of Spokane, in the other six-round bout. They are middleweights. Walt King, Clayton, welterweight, knocked out Al Roberts, Tacoma, in the first round of a scheduled four-round bout. Flip Edwards, Spokane, middleweight, declassified Lyle Roach, Spokane, in a four-round preliminary.

PINTO WINS BOUT AFTER BIG MIX-UP

Gets Winning Fall on Al Karasick After Wrestlers and Referee Pile-up

Jack McLaughlin and Robin Reed Win Fast Preliminaries on Vancouver Card

Vancouver, March 20.—"Pump, pump, pull-away, if you don't come I'll pull you away!" The popular old schoolboy pastime provided the trick ending to yesterday evening's rough-house at the Auditorium, Stanley Pinto and Al Karasick, grapplers, teaming up with Referee Bill Draper to put on the show. Pinto got the nod because he was on top of Karasick when he finally did let go, although Draper actually was king of the pile-up in a sort of three-way fall. It all happened this way. Karasick and Pinto had a fall apiece and the Russian was going after his pudgy opponent in the fifth to finish things. Pinto bicycled to the ropes and, whether intentionally or otherwise, pinned Referee Draper against the upper strand as he grabbed it with an arm on either side of the referee.

Karasick fell into the spirit of things and grabbed Pinto around the waist. With the crowd convulsed in laughter the three heaved away. Then, just as Karasick took an extra big heave, Pinto let go and all three piled up in the middle of the ring. Draper extricated himself just in time to clap Pinto on the back as he lay atop of the much-crushed Karasick.

GOOD PRELIMINARIES
Two first-class preliminaries served to add to the ever-increasing popularity of the middleweights. Jack McLaughlin, of Vancouver, and Charlie Coggins, of Astoria, swept into the ring and out again like a young whirlwind, three falls coming in as many tempestuous rounds. McLaughlin flopped Coggins with an armlock in the first five seconds. Midway through the second session Coggins broke out of one of McLaughlin's myriad holds to straddle the Vancouver boy and pin him before the latter realized he was down.

Coggins had been roughing it up freely, biting, gouging and using the knee, and McLaughlin went after him in the third session. Jack chased his rival all around the ring and finally laid him low with a toehold which forced him to pat the mat in surrender.

Robin Reed, pleasant sort of youngster from Eugene, Oregon, spotted Toby Wallace of Louisville at least twenty pounds and gave him a trouncing, which could not be described as other than artistic. Reed, twice Olympic champion, showed plenty of class and had the plodding Wallace grasping at thin air as he dodged hither and thither around the squared circle.

Reed bounced through three rounds, sneaking out of dangerous holds and generally avoiding punishment, until in the fourth he tossed Wallace with a series of spectacular flying arm twists, which left the Kentuckian groggy and an easy victim for the only fall of the match.

Trail Smoke-eaters Eliminated From Allan Cup Fight

GENE SARAZEN LEADS TOURNEY

New York Pro Shoots a 68 in Opening Round of $15,000 La Gorce Event

Miami Beach, Fla., March 20.—Gene Sarazen, New York, opened a new bag of tricks yesterday to count an early advantage in the opening eighteen-hole play of the $15,000 La Gorce open golf tournament and snatched the lead at the quarter mark of the seventy-two-hole class with a 32-36—68.

Gene's reversal of tournament procedure, as he contented himself with a par score on the back nine of this trap-filled seaside course, put him one stroke ahead of Craig Wood, Deni, N.J., with a 35-34—69. Joe Turnesa, Elmsford, N.Y., played on Gene's heels on the first day prize of $100 for low eighteen holes.

The Sarazen score was three strokes under the 36-71 par of the course. Gene's 68, carried under a blazing sun, won the first day prize of $100 for low eighteen holes.

Walter Kozack, North Hills, L.I., stood in third place with his 34-36—70.

Varsity Hoop Team Captures Western Title

Vancouver, March 19.—University of British Columbia won the senior western intercollegiate basketball title by defeating University of Alberta, 28 to 18, yesterday evening in the second contest of the two-game titanic series. U.B.C. won the first game Monday night, by a 21 to 18 count, thus taking the series, 49 to 36.

while four of the clansmen, led by Walter Hagen, stood in fourth place with 71. The others were Harry Cooper, Chicago; Bob Shave, Cleveland, and Joe Kirkwood, New York.

PERKINS IN SEMI-FINALS OF FLORIDA TOURNEY

St. Augustine, Fla., March 20.—T. Phillips Perkins, former British amateur titleholder, advanced to the semi-finals of the winter amateur golf championship of Florida yesterday by trouncing Gray Singleton, University of Florida, 7 and 6.

OAKES LEADING IN CUE FINAL

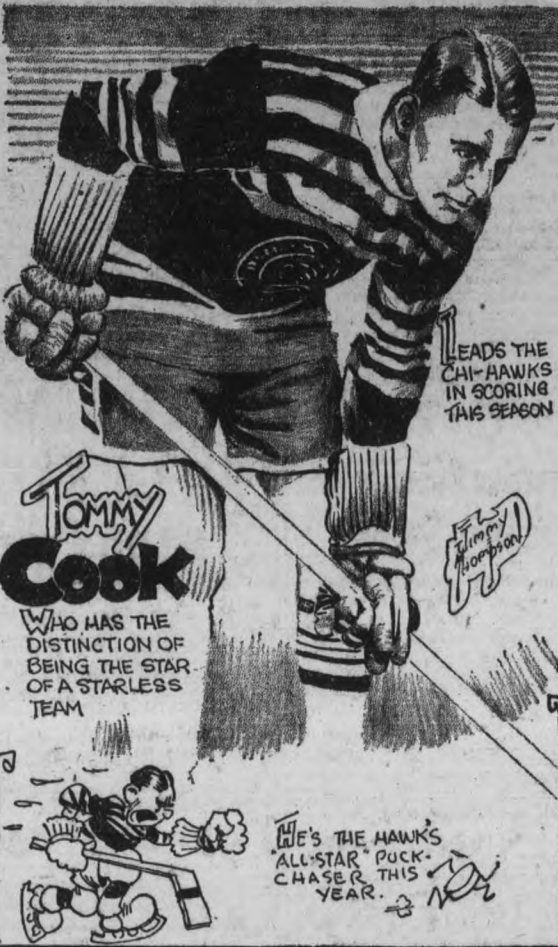

Gains Lead of 400 to 271 Over Eddie Newman in City Title Play

In the first block of the 800-point finals to decide the city English billiard championship, Sam Oakes gained a lead of 400 to 271 over Eddie Newman at the Metropolitan Billiard Parlor yesterday evening. The second block will be played on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock and, with his 129-point lead, Oakes is an overwhelming favorite to win.

On Tuesday evening, Bert Irish, well-known local professional, will meet the new city champion, in an exhibition match, spotting his opponent 250 points, in a 500 to 750 point match. The winner of the city title will gain possession of the handsome trophy presented by the Irish brothers, Bert and Charlie, which is now on display in the Standard Steam Laundry window, Yates Street.

STARLESS TEAM'S STAR

By JIMMY THOMPSON

Strange as it seems, it's true. Tommy Cook of the Chicago Hawks is the star of a starless team. It's the proud boast of the Chicago Hawks that they are the N.H.L.'s starless team, but the rest of the "Big League" puckchasers want to know whether they play hockey in earnest or just amuse themselves. If there ever was a star Tommy Cook is, and he has plenty of these, them and those into the bargain. He leads the Windy City's N.H.L.'s entry in scoring points and has the distinction of being one of the lightest players to have ever traipsed in on the Big Tent, weighing only 135 pounds. He gives one the impression that if he had a good stiff "Ching" Johnston body-check it would send him over the twenty-fifth row of seats. Tommy's early hockey experience was gained in his three years as an amateur of Fort William seniors, during which time they won the Allan Cup twice. The ex-Tulsa Oiler is not related to his namesake of the New York Rangers. He was bought by the Hawks after leading the American League in scoring and winning the unanimous selection as centre of the all-star circuit team. He has the knack of wriggling his way into scoring position and when he snarls the little disk at close range his aim is deadly. He boasts plenty of speed and technique as he demonstrated when he scored five points in a single game this season. So he's one baby that's well worth watching in the coming Stanley Cup play-offs.

HELEN MOODY WILL NOT GO INTO MOVIES

Famous Tennis Star Denies Rumors She Will Follow Steps of Bobby Jones

Is Practicing For National and Wightman Cup Events; Not Going to England

San Francisco, March 20.—Helen Wills Moody, famous tennis star, told the Associated Press to-day she has no intention of signing a movie contract to make educational films or otherwise exploit her ability. Reports that she contemplated following in the footsteps of Bobby Jones, who left the amateur golf ranks to make a series of pictures, were called to her attention.

Mrs. Moody's conversation with the reporter went like this: "Is it going to be the same question again? Let me think now—haven't we talked this matter over about five times in the last three months?"

"No, I haven't any intention of signing a movie contract; in fact, I haven't received an offer since the one nearly a year ago. Of course, I would not say that I wouldn't be interested if somebody offered me a lot of money to make motion pictures. I said that before, if you remember."

"At the present time I have no idea of giving up my amateur standing. I will not be able to play in England this year because it keeps me away from home too long. But I am practicing three and four times a week and plan to compete in the National and Wightman Cup events this year. I think my game will be stronger this year. I have been taking lessons from Mr. Kinsey (Howard Kinsey, local pro), and he taught me a chop stroke. This has been the weakest part of my game."

EDDIE SHORE'S PET PLAY

Eddie Shore may be nothing but bad news to the rest of the teams but he is one sweet theme song to Art Ross, manager of those awful Boston Bruins. Although Eddie is one mighty big fellow and a defence player extraordinary, he is one boy who can step when it comes his turn to carry the puck in an attack of the opposing team's nets. Not so long ago when I was watching the Bruins provide some excitement for Cooper Smeaton's Phillies, Eddie Shore pulled a play that made Cooper miss a couple of breaths. Shore, taking the disc from behind his own blue line, started down centre ice with a wing man on his right. As he approached the opposing blue line he was checked by the opposing forwards. However, having successfully evaded with a sudden burst of speed, he drove the puck straight ahead against the boards. As the same time his wing teammate put on a similar sprint, sweeping in front of the goal. By the time that Shore had got near the nets the puck bounded out with a lightning-like pass across the goal the wing man had the puck in a perfect scoring position.

Dempsey Has No "Spat" With Wife

North Platte, Neb., March 20.—Jack Dempsey was surprised yesterday when he read a dispatch here from Hollywood which said he had a "minor disagreement" with his wife, Estelle Taylor. The former heavyweight boxing champion was aboard a train bound for Chicago.

He said he knew "absolutely nothing about the spat" with his wife and added that separation or divorce was unthinkable.

Edmonton Defeat B.C. Champs In Bruising Battle

Three Goals by Graham, Brilliant Centre of Alberta Champions, Give Superiors 3 to 2 Victory to Decide Series; Trail Unleash Determined Attack in Third Period to Score Pair of Goals; Edmonton Defence Players Fight Like Demons in Late Stages of Game; Stuart Gives Great Exhibition in Goal for Edmonton.

Trail, B.C., March 20.—Superiors of Edmonton, amateur hockey champions of Alberta, yesterday evening reached the semi-final round of the Allan Cup playdowns by defeating Trail Smoke-eaters, British Columbia titleholders, 3 to 2, in the deciding game of their two-game series. The first contest Tuesday night ended in a three-all deadlock. Edmonton thus won the series, 6 to 5.

Smoke-eaters, however, passed out of cup contention only after a hectic battle in which a sterling last-period stand by the Edmonton defence backed by marvelous goal-tending by Stuart saved the situation for the visitors. Three goals down after ten seconds of play in the third period, the Smoke-eaters staged a wild rally that swept in two goals and all but tied up the series. The local yellow-jackets, however, could not break through for that tying tally, although they pressed with four and five-man attacks. Late penalties to Hills and Gillies, Edmonton defencemen, failed to materially help the Trail cause, the remainder of the visitors fighting like demons to hold their slim advantage.

SCORES THREE GOALS
Offensive honors for the game went to the flashy Edmonton centre player, Graham. He scored all three goals obtained by the Albertans, two unassisted and the other in company with Crossland. Brown, Trail centre, worked hard to keep the opposing pivot man in check, but didn't have much luck. Six seconds after the initial period opened Graham went through alone to beat Garland in the Trail net.

Then the Smoke-eaters lost Anderson, one of their defencemen, through injuries. Graham made it 2 to 0 before the initial period closed on another lone rush which carried him in on top of Garland. The second session was scoreless, Trail having settled down.

TRAIL GET PAIR
Another piece of fast scoring was unleashed by Superiors ten seconds after the start of the final frame when Crossland and Graham combined for the latter's third goal. Then the Smoke-eaters got going. Their offensive was opened wide. When the period was but five minutes old, Edmonton's margin of three goals had diminished to one, goals by Molisky and Brown having put the locals right back into contention. Then began the battle of a wild rushing offensive against a sturdy defence. The sturdy defence finally won out, and Superiors were still holding their 3 to 2 advantage when the final whistle blew.

THE LINE-UPS
Edmonton—Stuart; Hills and Smith; Graham, Crossland and Walker. Subs: Brown, Gillies and McMillan.
Trail—Garland; Reddick and Anderson; Brown, Wheatley and Hanson. Subs: Kendall, Jordan and Molisky.
Officials—F. Campbell, Edmonton, and P. McIntyre, Trail.

SUMMARY
First period—1, Edmonton, Graham; 0, 2, Edmonton, Graham, 17:13.
Second period—No score.
Third period—3, Edmonton, Graham (Crossland), 10; 4, Trail, Molisky (Wheatley), 4:10; 5, Trail, Brown, 40.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

SUGGESTS WAY TO OVERCOME
UNEMPLOYMENT

M. B. Jackson, K.C., Advocates Jobless Insurance; Establish a Reserve

Touches on Method of State Health Insurance Before Ward Two Liberals

A system of unemployment insurance or the inauguration of a reserve fund by industries to care for their employees in cases of insufficient work, was advocated by M. B. Jackson, K.C., as two possible solutions of the present unemployment crisis in an address before the Ward Two Liberal Association in the Liberal headquarters yesterday evening. He also dealt with state health insurance, outlining a scheme which he thought would be of untold value not only to the individuals concerned but to the economic status of the country in which it was established.

Before opening his address, Mr. Jackson referred to the increase in the tax rate and warned his hearers to look for further raises next year. If the government were to go to the people now, there was no doubt in his mind that the Liberals would be returned to power.

"Whom the Gods wish to destroy, they first make mad. If there is any government in the world that has prepared itself for destruction by going mad it is the one in power in B. C. at present," he declared.

URGES RESIGNATION

In order to put an end to the present government, he urged the gathering not only to get on the voters' list, but to encourage others to do so. Their votes could not help but reflect lack of confidence in the present legislation. Mr. Jackson advised closer co-operation with the laboring classes of the city, saying the Liberals had been in the vanguard of every piece of legislation which had tended to raise the status of the working class.

Need for a more equitable distribution of surplus wealth, at present rolling into the pockets of the capitalists at the expense of the worker, was advocated. Let capitalism and enterprise be given their just and generous rewards, the speaker said. But let the laborer also secure his share. He referred to the luxury of the capitalist, saying the upkeep of a private yacht belonging to a wealthy New Yorker had been sufficient to meet the unemployment relief costs of all Victoria.

Unemployment was not a temporary evil. It was forever lurking in the background. The crisis of 1930 and 1931 were the gravest in history.

Mr. Jackson went back into history showing the ever-growing products of the machine age were putting men out of work. He looked to a time when the worker would be able to meet this situation through a system of five-hour working days and five-day working weeks.

At present the distribution of benefits that accrued from improved methods of production was wholly inadequate. The masses were not receiving anything like their due.

WORKERS MOST VALUABLE CLASS

"Imagine a state of affairs in which the working class has been eliminated and only the high peaks of the fortunes remain. What good would their wealth be to them? They would be helpless and useless to themselves," he declared in illustrating how essential the workers were to society.

Every able-bodied worker was entitled to work and to receive for his labor sufficient to keep himself and his dependents in comfort. These left over classes, unable to look after themselves through physical or mental disabilities, should be cared for by the state, he said.

Comparing a system of unemployment insurance to that of ordinary life insurance and commenting on the laws of averages, Mr. Jackson stated such a system would be found economical in the long run. The inevitable wave of crime which went hand-in-hand with unemployment and which cost the state untold sums, was mentioned.

Too much shirking had been done. The different industries as well as state governments should attempt to stabilize occupations and work for continued employment, he maintained.

Just as a bank operated with a reserve, so should an industry, in order that it might safeguard its employees. To follow this course he outlined a system whereby the industry, the worker and the state would pay into a reserve fund in order that it might be drawn upon as needed. By this he did not mean a dole. That had proved a curse in the Mother Country.

A system of state health insurance should also be instituted, Mr. Jackson continued, adding that illness not only proved a costly evil to the worker but to industry and the state.

Plumbing, inspection, sewerage systems, hygiene, port sanitation and clinics were parts of a scheme of state health insurance, but some more concrete benefit was needed.

In some countries where this system had been tried it had been found the doctors and specialists were not of the highest order. Under his plan, the public officers placed in charge of the public hospitals would be elected and would thereby be selected from the best in their professions.

This would lead to the elimination of men not competent to be in charge of the public health, he said.

DENTIST BILL CALLED HARSH

The Dentists' Bill before the Legislature was described as harsh and one that sought powers for the College of Dentists far in excess of what should be given, by H. D. Twigg in the Legislature yesterday when the bill was up for second reading. Colonel Nelson Spence returned the debate.

"I am not against dentists conducting their own affairs," said Mr. Twigg, "but this bill calls for greater powers than given to medical men."

Mr. Twigg said unprofessional conduct had been fairly well decided by courts but dentists sought to go beyond that and embrace infamous, disgraceful and improper conduct in a professional respect. It means almost any act of a dentist could be brought forward to be dealt with and a dentist could be suspended at once and months after when his appeal was heard he might go back to his practice. His business would be wrecked in the meantime.

"Why the Dental College requires this drastic power I don't know," Mr. Twigg commented. "It gives the college great powers if they should be opposed to a man."

CHIROPRACTORS
BILL DELAYED

Point of Order Caused Delay on Second Reading in House

Royal Commission Suggested in Amendment Offered Yesterday

Second reading of the Chiropractors' Bill under which they seek management of their own affairs apart from the Medical Council of British Columbia was delayed on a point of order on an amendment moved by J. W. Berry, Conservative, Delta, which called upon the Lieutenant-Governor to issue a royal commission on the education and qualifications of chiropractors.

A. M. Manson seconded Mr. Berry's amendment and the Ontario member, H. D. Twigg, who is in charge of the bill argued the points of order, Mr. Twigg claiming the amendment was irrelevant and vexatious and was offered as an attempt to delay the second reading of the bill.

A lengthy preamble reviewing previous efforts of the chiropractors to secure legislation and the final legislation making their right to practice subject to passing an examination by a board on which medical men were represented accompanied the proposed amendment. In introducing it Mr. Berry said, while many lines of thought were followed in the final extremity people turned to old and tried medical men. He did not believe chiropractors had as yet demonstrated to the people of the country the time had arrived when they could come to the Legislature to give them official sanction and official standing. He moved the bill not be proceeded with and the Lieutenant-Governor be asked to issue a royal commission as above stated.

"DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE"

"Is the member responsible for drafting this declaration of medical independence?" Mr. Twigg asked. He suspected it was the work of a lawyer and proceeded to argue that a royal commission should be appointed on the grounds named by the Delta member. Qualifications for chiropractors were specified under the Medical Act, he claimed, as there could be no inquiry into qualifications now. There was no necessity for an inquiry or grounds for an inquiry.

As a motion anticipating a bill it was out of order, he claimed. Further, he claimed it anticipated an amendment that should be offered in committee.

Mr. Manson claimed it was proper subject matter for an amendment. The House was entitled to have further facts before it and the suggestion was to place the matter before a judge of the courts to secure information from an unprejudiced source.

The Speaker promised an early ruling on the point of order, saying he hoped to give it the following day.

AUSTRALASIAN
GOODS DEBATED

Must Not Block Entry If Canada Wishes to Export, Says Manson

The federal government could not be asked to block the entry of sheep and dairy products from Australia and New Zealand if Canada sought to export to those countries, A. M. Manson K.C., said in the Legislature when the report of the agricultural committee was under consideration.

He took exception to a section of the report which recommended figures be supplied to the Federal Minister of Trade and Commerce on this subject and also to a reference which said the sheep and dairy industry of the province was demoralized as a result of the importations.

With Dr. H. C. Winch, Liberal, Skeena, Mr. Manson agreed with a section throwing open pre-emptions after they had been abandoned for three years with no charge for improvements to the new settler. Both saw danger of alienating too large areas of land in a recommendation that 320 acres could be filed upon where 190 acres was not deemed sufficient.

Regarding a recommendation that the Oriental question should be brought before the Inter-Empire Economic Conference at Ottawa, Mr. Manson claimed this could not be effectively done until British Columbia had first convinced the provinces east of the Rockies that she had an Oriental problem.

Mr. Manson suggested the report be discussed section by section instead of presented for adoption as a whole as members might agree with some sections and not with others.

Hon. N. S. Loughheed adjourned the debate.

How to Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial diets are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Laying aside all digestive aids and instead taking from any drug store a bottle of Masticia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets in water right after eating. This prevents the stomach from the formation of excess acid and there is no nausea, gas or pain. Masticia (masticia in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of masticia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people, including men with no more fear of indigestion.

MORE RELIEF WORK PLANNED
BY SAANICH

Council Will Provide $8,000 If Equal Government Aid Forthcoming

Tax Levy May Be Unchanged If School Board Estimates Cut; Tentative Rate Mills

Provision of additional relief work in Saanich, to carry unemployed men through the end of May above last year. Should the school board revise its estimates downward as a result of the $12,000 increase in the government's grant towards teachers' salaries, the tax could be held at last year's rate of twenty-eight mills, Reeve Crouch intimated.

The preliminary estimates tabled showed that receipts would total $180,877 and that a general levy of thirty mills would add $102,387 for general purposes, in addition to the requirements of the school board. There will be no levy for debt.

It was reported that the deficit last year was $12,328, chiefly attributable to decreases in the receipts from liquor profits and pari-mutuel taxes, while sales of reverted lands had also shown a substantial decrease from preceding years.

BY-LAW FOR SCHOOL

The council rejected a formal application by the school board for $93,000 for construction of three buildings for high school purposes, this being the customary precedent to an application for submission of a by-law to the ratepayers.

Richard Layritz and John Hutchison sought a grant in aid of the Vancouver Island Horticultural Society's show at the Willows on April 17 and 18 and were promised consideration.

Mrs. J. W. Sluggett entertained at a Shamrock tea on Tuesday at her home on West Road. The rooms were decorated with daffodils, ferns and shamrock. Games and contests were arranged and prizes were presented to Mrs. Tanner, Mrs. Buckle, Mrs. Parrell, Miss Wright and Mrs. C. Butler. Mrs. Sluggett was presented with a colon bouquet. Tea was served at 5 o'clock by the hostess, assisted by her daughter Alma. The invited guests were Mrs. P. J. Sluggett, Mrs. R. W. Sluggett, Mrs. H. E. Tanner, Mrs. C. Butler, Mrs. G. H. Sluggett, Mrs. L. Buckle, Mrs. J. W. Thomson, Mrs. Alraire, Mrs. Parsell, Mrs. J. Armstrong, Mrs. C. Mober, Mrs. A. Evans, Miss G. C. Wright, Miss H. M. Fletcher and Mrs. L. Thomson.

The Sons of Canada, Hanbury's and Empress Laundry basketball teams will visit the West Road Hall on Saturday evening to clash with the West Road quintettes. The probable line-ups will be: West Road intermediates—A. Bickford, S. Bickford, W. Sluggett, Charles Sluggett and P. Lannon; West Road seniors—G. Lannon, M. Lannon, Claude Sluggett, Clarence Sluggett, L. Butler, N. Andrew and J. Lannon; Sons of Canada—C. Nicholls, B. Elair, A. Reynolds, J. Taylor, F. Sutton and John Taylor; Hanbury's—Moody, Halkett, Stock, Newell, Barnswell and Eowett; Empress Laundry—W. Griffiths, C. Johnson, C. Lewis, D. Martin, G. Hemming and G. Ellis. Mrs. L. Overton of Victoria is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Atkins, Marchants Road.

Mrs. Rutlan has arrived from eastern Canada to spend the summer at her cottage at Brentwood Bay.

Lift the Ugly Veil of Blemishes
from your skin

RADIANT complexion beauty lies just beneath the surface. But millions of men and women suffer from pesty, dull, sallow complexions—marred with pimples, blotches, etc. What a difference a few days' proper care will make! A Stuart's Calcium Wafer will work wonders for men! It removes the cause of a septic condition of the blood resulting from intestinal stricture. Do not let your skin condition. They call such cases "Scabies." Scabies frequently do not realize their condition. It comes on so gradually. No one will tell them of the body odor and fetid breath. Your mirror will tell the story! Skin blemishes are Nature's danger signals.

Try This Week-end Test Get a package of Stuart's Calcium Wafers, from any drugstore—and follow directions for three days. What a difference! Eyes bright! Complexion clear—and with radiant natural color! Skin healthy, soft, and silky!

ALL PARTIES AGREE
on GILLETTE

GILLETTE has piled up overwhelming majorities in every nation, for shaving satisfaction knows no party, creed or color. Leaping international boundaries—this remarkable blade has won patrons everywhere—united men under one banner of razor-blade quality.

Twenty-nine years of untiring research—of allegiance to the highest manufacturing ideals—of constant improvement, have made this blade a world-wide favorite—gained the respect of more than a hundred million users. Nothing but uncompromising quality constantly maintained could continue to hold such universal confidence and esteem.

The plain truth of the matter is that people everywhere have experienced better shaving results with Gillette. You need no one to tell you how kind its incomparably smooth edges are to your face. You know that every Gillette stroke is sleek, clean and sweet—that every user gets genuine shaving satisfaction with this blade. And you know, too, that wherever you go—from Toronto to Tokio—the Gillettes you buy are the same smooth-shaving, high quality blades you get from your neighborhood store at home.

In the light of these facts, it is not surprising that the legion of Gillette users has grown to such an overwhelming host. Today in every corner of the globe the majority of men ask for Gillette when buying blades.

Uncle Ray's Corner

Let us visit to-day one of the great waterfalls of the world. Some persons say that it is the greatest of all, but that is a matter of opinion. Victoria Falls, in Africa, are mightier and have a greater volume of water flowing over the brink, but they are not so high as the falls which are going to describe.

To reach this fall, we must go to South America and enter British Guiana. Traveling inland, we find a fine road along the Potaro River, and observe that it is about 400 feet wide. We hear a roar in the distance and walk in that direction.

For a little while an amazing sight meets our eyes. The river tumbles over the edge of a great ledge of rock. Down, down, down it goes until we can no longer see the water because of the dense clouds of mist.

The drop has been measured and has been found to be 741 feet! That is nearly five times as great as the drop of Niagara Falls. If you have ever visited Niagara, you know what a wondrous view is to be seen there. Fancy a waterfall such as this one!

So far, I have not told you the name of the fall. We might call it "The Fall of the Old Man," for that is the meaning of the Indian words from which the name was formed. "Kaituma" is the way most people speak of it.

Why did the Indians call it the Fall of the Old Man? The answer to this question may be found in two rocks at the base. These rocks suggest the outline of an old man and of a canoe.
An Indian legend tells of an old man who was tied in a canoe and set drifting down the river until he went over the fall. This cruel deed did not end with his death, for—the legend says—he and his canoe were turned into stone.

The legend is interesting, but of course it is one of the many legends which are not true. The rocks are there because Nature happened to make them that way through the action of winds and waves and rains. Nature often carves rocks into curious shapes.

LUMBER DUTY

IS ADVOCATED

B.C. Interested in West Coast Request Heard at Washington

Washington, March 20.—A 50 per cent increase in the present import duty of $1 a thousand feet on finished softwood lumber was recommended to the U.S. Tariff Commission yesterday by the West Coast Lumbermen's Association.

The proposed increase would be the maximum permitted under the flexible provision of the Tariff Act. Col. W. B.
Greely, former chief forester of the United States and now secretary-manager of the association, made the recommendation.

Higher production costs in Oregon and Washington as compared with those in British Columbia, and the lower freight rates available to Canadian shippers, were cited by Col. Greely as justifying the increase.

Imports of softwood lumber from British Columbia amounted to about 600,000,000 feet annually, as compared with 1,000,000,000 feet from Washington of about 10,000,000,000 feet a year.

If these imports were entirely excluded, the "Dennis" would be "problems be solved."

"No, but it would make a larger domestic market available to us," Greely replied.

Chairman Fletcher of the commission asked if the association anticipated competition in the domestic market from Russian lumber.

"Yes, unless an embargo is imposed against convict-made goods," Greely replied.

He agreed that even a 100 per cent increase in the lumber tariff would not materially lessen this competition.

The Soviet five-year programme, he said, called for a tremendous increase in production, and markets must be found for that lumber.

WORKERS' WAGES
Greely submitted figures to show the average annual wage of the lumber workers in British Columbia was $1,149 as compared with $1,421 in Washington and $1,349 in Oregon.

These figures were questioned by J.
H. Bloedel, Seattle lumber operator, who opposed the proposed tariff increase. The figures, he added, were taken from the whole of British Columbia, in part of which operations were carried on through only a part of each year because of climatic conditions.

Greely replied such sections of British Columbia involved a relatively small number of employees, and that the figures he presented also included parts of Oregon and Washington in which lumber operations were on a part-time basis.

Bloedel contended a true comparison could be obtained only by computing the daily wage in British Columbia and the Pacific Northwest.

The executive of the Langford Badminton Club will meet on Saturday evening at Langford Lakeside.

Following choir practice at St. Matthew's Church on Friday evening, a

Sharkey to Meet Either Griffiths
Or Tom Loughran

Chicago, March 20.—Jack Sharkey, day evening agreed through his manager to meet the winner of the Tuffy

Griffiths - Tommy Loughran fight, March 27, at the Chicago Stadium some time in June.

AT THE THEATRES

OXFORD UNIVERSITY

SETTING FOR STORY

ON CAPITOL SCREEN

"Charley's Aunt," the Columbia picture, produced by Christie, now running at the Capitol Theatre, where it will remain to-day and Saturday, is a farce of student life at Oxford University.

Charles Ruggles, one of the grandest comedians the talkies have produced, plays the title role. He is supported by June Collyer, Doris Lloyd, Rodney Mc-Lennan, Hugh Williams, Phillips Smal-len and Halliwell Hobbes. At Christie, master in the art of comedy direction, handled this production.

IN DOMINION FILM

The most sensational jail-break ever filmed provides one of the many dramatic moments in "The Doorway to Nowhere," the Warner Bros. and Vitaphone production which features Lewis
Ayres, Charles Judels, Dorothy Johnson, Leon Janney and other well-known players, now at the Dominion Theatre.

side the prison deliberately framing the jail-break, through underground channels, so that they may have revenge on an escaping gang-leader.

THRILLING SCENES
PORTRAYED IN FILM
AT THE PLAYHOUSE

With the girl he loved—and he himself—at the mercy of a brutal sea-captain drunk with power, far out on the Pacific—how could he save her from the Wolf's designs? That is the question asked and thrillingly answered, in "The Sea Wolf," Milton Sills's newest Fox Movietone offering, now attracting crowds at the Playhouse Theatre. Jane Keith and Raymond Hackett also have pivotal roles in the film, which Alfred Santell directed from the famous Jack London book.

EDGAR WALLACE IS AUTHOR OF FEATURE
HERE AT COLUMBIA

"The Yellow Mask," showing to-day at the Columbia Theatre was directed by Harry Lachman for British International Pictures, and starring Lupino Lane, is an adaptation of Edgar Wallace's mystery drama, and is typically Wallace, with comedy and melodrama incident.
The "high spots" might be said to be the bribing by a Chinese scoundrel of the brother of a British captain in the Indian army, and the

MUSICAL TREAT IN
QUARTETTE APPEARS

The concert by the Hart House String Quartette on Wednesday, March 25, in the Royal Victoria Theatre, is one of the most select and attractive items on the year's music bill. The programme arranged is one of special interest.

Knowing the quality of the performances of the Hart House musicians, one can easily see that a concert of great beauty and distinction is in store for those who are planning to attend. There are few string quar-tettes of the first rank, for first rank to such an organization means long association, arduous application to study, perfect technique, a steady climb to success, culminating in an international reputation.

no exception to the rule. By the time the voyage to no man's land was fairly begun, all members of the cast were old friends.

Five of the group, in fact, were really old friends, enjoying their first reunion since the first production of the play in America. Leslie Howard, Beryl Mercer, Lionel Watts, Dudley Digges and Robert Milton, the director, all took part in both stage and screen versions.

Alison Skipworth and Montagu Love, both well known to Broadway, were others in the cast who found that they had much in common with their fellow players, while Howard and Douglas Fairbanks Jr. soon struck up a rare friendship.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Lee Sue, Chinese, who pleaded guilty in City Police Court this morning to a charge of indecent exposure, was sentenced to one month's hard labor by Acting Magistrate C. J. Prior.

Members of the 67th Battalion, Western Scots, will meet at the annual reunion dinner in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium to-morrow evening at 6.30 o'clock.

Asking further opportunity to secure counsel, Francis Joseph Sweeney, charged with forgery in City Police Court this morning, was remanded until next Monday.

Charged with possession of opium, Le Ming, Chinese, was arraigned in City Police Court this morning and remanded for March 27 for hearing. Stuart Henderson appears for the defence and F. C. Elliott for the prosecution.

News has been received that the Elk Hotel at Comox Bay is opening on April 1. The golf course has been put in good condition and tournaments will be held during the Easter holidays. The fishing is said to be unusually good there at this time of the year.

The Pride of the Island Lodge, Sons of England Society, held a home party for members and their families on Tuesday evening in the S.O.E. Hall, Broad Street. A very interesting and amusing program was arranged.

The items included: Illuminated club swinging, by H. Whitehead; exhibition of tumbling, by the Y.M.C.A. wrestling club; piano solo, by E. Ombler; exhibition of dancing, by Miss Clough; Academy; comic singing competition, by Brothers Hill, Southall and Wetherill. The remainder of the evening was passed in dancing to the strains of the Jacklin orchestra and a buffet supper was served.

The funeral of Cornelius Robert Reed took place yesterday afternoon at 2.30 from the Thomson and Fetterly Funeral Home, Rev. Daniel Walker officiating. Many friends attended the service and the casket was covered with beautiful floral offerings. The hymn "Abide With Me" was sung. The following were pallbearers: T. Wilson, T. O'Leary, J. Grundison, L. P. Collins, Conner and Oscar Thorsen. Interment was in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

OBITUARY

The funeral of Laurence Gardom took place from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel yesterday afternoon at 3.15 o'clock, proceeding after a short service conducted by Rev. Hugh Nixon, to St. Barnabas' Church, where service was conducted by Rev. N. E. Smith at 3.30 o'clock. The hymns sung were "Peace, Perfect Peace," and "Abide With Me." Many friends were present, and numerous beautiful floral offerings were received and placed on the casket and hearse. The pallbearers were: T. M. Bird, M. Blackstock, George Jones, D. Simmons, B. Gardom and S. M. Lamb. The remains were laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

The remains of Joseph Green, who died in Vancouver General Hospital on March 16, following a motor accident, reached the city this morning and are resting at the B.C. Funeral Chapel, where services will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. A. de B. Owen will officiate and interment will be in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Robert Mitchell, a resident of Victoria for fifty-four years, passed away yesterday at the Jubilee Hospital, aged eighty-four years. He was a native of Scotland. The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the B.C. Funeral Chapel, and interment will be in Ross Bay Cemetery.

The funeral of James Chamberlain will be from the Sands Funeral Chapel to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The remains will be forwarded to Seattle for cremation.

An impressive service was conducted at the residence, 222 Russell Street, yesterday afternoon, for John Ball, who passed away on Sunday. Rev. J. S. Patterson officiated and the two hymns, "Abide With Me" and "The Sands of Time Are Sinking" were sung. Mrs. J. S. Patterson sang, "No Night There," as a solo. The remains were forwarded by the Sands Funeral Company to Vancouver on yesterday evening's boat for interment on Saturday afternoon in the family plot in Mountain View Cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Emma Halliwell, who passed away in this city last Sunday, took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Sands Funeral Chapel, from Calgary, with many friends attending the services which were conducted by the Rev. F. A. Ramsey. The hymns sung were, "Abide With Me" and "Nearer My God to Thee." P. A. Raymond, J. W. Lorrimer, A. P. Thomas and H. Barker acted as pallbearers and the remains were laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Yarrow's Limited Will Employ 200 Men in Repairing Ss. Prince Rupert

C.N.R. Officials From Montreal Unable to Find Cause of Sinking of Steamer

For a contract price exceeding $100,000, Yarrow's Limited of Esquimalt was this morning awarded the job to repair the Canadian National steamer Prince Rupert, whose interior was badly damaged during her six-day submersion in Esquimalt Harbor. Work was commenced on the ship this morning as soon as it was known by the firm that its men would do the job. It is hoped to have the vessel in first-class condition in sixty days. About 200 men will be given employment.

Much satisfaction was expressed this morning when it was known that the Prince Rupert would be repaired here. It is one of the largest ship repairing jobs to be done in Victoria in recent years and is not even exceeded by the Empress of Canada, job eighteen months ago. That contract amounted to $90,000. A large gang of men was started to work on the interior of the ship this morning clearing up the wreckage. Work will be done alongside the Yarrow outfitting wharf and the ship will not be put in dry-dock until the interior work is finished. She will then be drydocked for exterior overhaul.

Yarrow's Limited will do all the repairs but the Canadian National will handle the re-furnishing of the ship through its own officials. All the furniture, including carpets, pianos, rugs, hangings and chairs and tables were ruined by the water and oil and will have to be replaced.

It is expected that local firms will figure in the replacement of the furniture. Canadian National officials in Vancouver have been conferring for some days in an effort to ascertain the cause of the Prince Rupert's sinking after having viewed the ship in dry-dock here and at Esquimalt. Following is the Vancouver dispatch, telling of the Vancouver conference:

Vancouver, March 20.—For some days R. E. Teagle, general manager of the company, and E. E. Teddie, superintendent and superintendent engineer from Montreal, have been seeking to ascertain the cause of the sinking. They have, it is said, finally decided to place the accident as another Pacific coast mystery. E. E. Teddie's investigation has failed to disclose any reason for the vessel sinking. There is little doubt but she filled through open ports, into the "glory hole," but what caused her to list sufficiently to put the ports under water has not been learned.

KINSMEN WILL COMMEMORATE INAUGURATION

With a programme which will synchronize with those of the other twenty-seven clubs throughout Canada, Victoria Kinsmen will be entertained and entertained at a special national observance meeting in the Empress Hotel at 6 o'clock this evening. Edwin Tomlin will replace Hon. R. L. McMillan, minister without portfolio, who was originally scheduled to speak to the club but who will be out of town this evening.

Before dinner the members will proceed to the War Memorial at the Parliament Building's grounds and place a wreath in honor of those who fell for their country in the Great War. Although the idea of the Kinsmen Club was conceived in January, 1920, the actual founding of the group as the Kinsmen of the British Empire was the latter part of March and the beginning of April. This evening's gathering will commemorate the eleventh anniversary of the Kinsmen's original club was founded in Hamilton by H. Rogers.

Whang Ping Hung, holding the rank of brigadier general and assistant director of the Bureau of Aviation at Nanking, reached here to-day from China on board the Empress of Canada. He is accompanied by his wife and also by H. S. Wu, of the Nanking aviation department.

The Chinese air director stated that his mission involved a tour of the United States which would include the inspection of airplane works and an investigation of U.S. flying methods. He plans to visit Washington, D.C., and will confer with the chief of aviation there before returning to China. Whang Ping Hung has done a great deal of flying himself in the Chinese military service.

China, he said, is making steady strides with her air force. Three colleges are maintained by the Nationalist government for the training of Chinese airmen and at no time is there any shortage of recruits.

Many of the city's poor lost a warm friend in the death yesterday evening of Miss Pauline Lange, a resident of Victoria for sixty years. Miss Lange was born in Honolulu but lived here the greater part of her life, residing at 1308 Douglas Street, above the block of stores which she owned. She was a charter member of Colfax Rehearsal Lodge, by whom she was given the Degree of Chivalry, and a member of the Order of Eastern Star No. 17. Miss Lange was a woman of unusually kind disposition and many families in need were remembered by her, gifts of groceries and fuel being always sent anonymously. She leaves no relatives.

Funeral services will be held at the Sands Funeral Chapel on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the order being Eastern Star No. 17, conducting the funeral services at the chapel, while at the graveside the services will be in charge of Colfax Lodge. Interment will be in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Copies of correspondence referred to by Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe in his speech on affairs of the University of British Columbia are promised by the Minister of Education and he would be supplied with copies of any he selected.

Three private members' bills were advanced through second reading by the Legislature yesterday without comment. The Fraser River and Ladner Bridge Companies' bill sponsored by William Dick and J. W. Cornett, went unopposed. Minor amendments to the Barbers' Act, moved by J. W. Cornett were also approved.

VOTERS, REGISTER

Owing to failure to vote at the last election, there are 13,000 people to be reinstated on the provincial voters' list, for which registration is now being made at Court-house, David Spencer Limited and the Hudson's Bay Company. Persons who are British subjects, over twenty-one years of age and six months' residence in the province and one month in Victoria before the election are eligible to vote. Register now.

COTTON MISSION RETURNS FROM ORIENT SURVEY

Sir Ernest Thompson Will Present Report to British Government

Six Months Spent in Japan and China; Every Courtesy Shown Members

Britain's economic mission under the chairmanship of Sir Ernest Thompson, which was sent to Japan and China to investigate possibilities of increasing markets in the Oriental countries for the Lancashire cotton industry, returned here to-day by the liner Empress of Canada.

Sir Ernest Thompson, seen on board following the docking of the ship, declared that the results of the cotton mission.

"We have completed a very extensive survey and are now returning direct to London to place our report with the British Government," said Sir Ernest.

"We met the leaders of the governments of Japan and China, and were shown every courtesy during our stay in those countries. Further than that, I can say nothing."

It was explained by Sir Ernest that the mission had spent six months in the Far East. One month was spent in Japan looking into the industries of that country.

RECEIVED BY EMPEROR

The mission was received by Emperor Hirohito at the Imperial Palace in Tokyo and by Premier Hamaguchi and the head of the Japanese government.

From Tokyo the mission went to China, where it was received by Marshal Chiang Kai-shek and the members of the Nationalist government at Nanking.

A month was spent in Shanghai and the Yangtze district, a similar period in North China and Manchuria and the latter part of the tour in Hongkong, Canton and South China.

Sir Ernest is chairman of the executive, Joint Committee of Cotton Trade Organizations; chairman, Cotton Trade Statistical Bureau; and director of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce.

Other members of the mission are: James Bell, secretary of the Oldham and District Weavers' and Winders' Association; William A. Crowther, of W. & E. Crowthers Limited; Lieut.-Col. Reginald Morcom, C.B.E., of Bellis & Morcom Limited; F. W. Birchough, president of the Amalgamated Association of Operative Cotton Spinners; and Twines' Association; E. Duxbury, president of the United Textile Factory Workers' Association; J. I. Edmondson, former secretary of the Federation of Colloid Printers; George Green, chairman, Padingham Master Cotton Spinners' and Manufacturers' Association; Arthur Reiss, managing director of Reiss Bros. Limited; Joseph Wild, president of the Wigan and District Cotton Exporters' Association; T. St. Quintin Hill, C.B.E.; N. A. Guttry and F. A. Barnes.

LUMBER DUTY SUGGESTION IN U.S. OPPOSED

J. H. Bloedel Tells Tariff Commission It Would Be Mistake to Raise Import Levy

West Coast Lumbermen's Association Pressing For $1.50 a Thousand on Softwoods

Associated Press

Washington, March 20.—Opposition to an increased lumber tariff was laid before the U.S. Tariff Commission to-day by J. H. Bloedel, a Seattle timber operator.

Testifying on the second day of the commission's hearing on a proposal of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association for a fifty per cent increase in the softwood lumber import duty, Bloedel said there was little difference in production costs in Oregon and Washington as compared with British Columbia.

The proposed increase would be the maximum allowed under the flexible provision of the Tariff Act, which now carries a duty of $1 a thousand feet.

Bloedel said he had extensive operations in Washington and British Columbia, with a total output of about 500,000,000 feet annually. Wages in the two sections, he said, were comparable for job with highly skilled labor drawing slightly higher pay in Canada and unskilled labor strictly less.

OCEAN SHIPPING

He took issue with previous testimony by proponents of the higher duty that British Columbia operators enjoyed an advantage over United States mills in ocean freight rates. Oregon and Washington operators, he testified, had available adequate steamship facilities at all times, while British Columbia operators were forced to depend on foreign ships available only at irregular and infrequent periods.

Bloedel agreed with Colonel W. B. Greely, former chief forester of the United States and now manager of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association, that there was over-production in the lumber industry.

FRUIT ACT IS SINISTER, SAY INDEPENDENTS

H. W. R. Moore Denounces Central Selling as Aid For "Lame Ducks"

Fruit Marketing Act Illegal Or Useless; Chaos in Distribution Foreseen

Challenging the proposed Fruit Marketing Act as being designed to aid "lame ducks" at the expense of skillful orchardists, and suggesting that sinister motives were behind the method of voting to be adopted, H. W. R. Moore, counsel for independent shippers and growers, this morning presented to the agriculture committee a list of over thirty points of objection to central selling. At the same time he offered an alternative bill under which a voluntary exchange of information through a government bureau would be organized.

The voting terms of the central selling bill would permit men growing an acre of radishes to outvote the owners of large orchards, Mr. Moore complained. T. G. Norris said the growers of each product would take their own vote in their own area, and explained that a line of type had been dropped in the draft of the bill. Mr. Moore refused to accept the verbal explanation and declared "this is a very peculiar omission in view of what is going on."

Mr. Norris demanded whether something sinister was suggested and Mr. Moore laconically replied "yes."

"I say this constituency has been deliberately cooked. They say the law cannot come into effect unless the growers want it. They want to be able to come out with a flood of propaganda in a cooked constituency and put it across. It should be squelched!" Mr. Moore protested.

ILLEGAL OR USELESS.

He alleged that the new act would prove ultra vires as it would interfere with an established trade. If it were held ultra vires of the Legislature it could not stop growers from shipping to points outside the province, as to grow in as many as any manner, would make the legislation ultra vires.

"The principal difference between this act and the Produce Marketing Act is: it is worse and more of it. All our time here with this act has been wasted," he complained.

POLITICS AND PROMISES

"The Fruit Marketing Act would mean politics, politics, politics from one year-end to the other. There will be promises such as 'you elect me and you will have no trouble in getting advances,' Mr. Moore warned, after asserting that bank loans would be refused growers if central selling came into force.

"This act is drafted in a thoroughly tyrannical manner. They can reject fruit without appeal. They can make or refuse advances. They can enter man's premises without his consent," he said, protesting that employment of helpers, scrutineers or legal advice by candidates for office would make the person employed liable to six months in jail. Offenders against regulations governing sales would be subjected to penalties of $100 or one year in prison, which Mr. Moore termed vindictive.

FIGHT FOR TIME

He was also critical of provisions whereby polls may be deferred in the event of a row in the polling station.

"Why this in the orderly Okanagan? Is it not that they are contemplating something pretty raw? One can always get a couple of drunks to start a fight, if one needs time in which to bring the faithful around," he remarked, concluding with the forecast, "there is not one chance in twenty for this act staying on the statute books, but if the independent shippers are first put out of business you will then have a real chaos in the fruit industry with the marketing houses destroyed."

The committee will re-convene at 10 o'clock to-morrow, when T. G. Norris will speak in rebuttal of Mr. Moore's assertions.

NEW REQUEST COMES TOLMIE LEAVE OFFICE

Vancouver, March 20.—The Tolmie Government is requested to resign and give the people of the province an opportunity to approve or reject the proposed imposition of the one per cent income tax recently announced in the budget, in a resolution adopted at a meeting of the Vancouver Women's Liberal Association.

The resolution advocates "that if such taxes as are now proposed be levied on the people without their consent, the payment of all such taxes be refused."

The text of the resolution, passed yesterday, follows:

"Whereas the government of Hon. Dr. Tolmie has elected to office on a definite and unqualified promise that expenditures of public provincial money would be curtailed, that provincial debt would be reduced and that provincial taxes would be decreased;

"And whereas William Dick, Esquire, elected on such a promise as a supporter of the people, Dr. Tolmie has publicly declared the Tolmie Government has increased the provincial debt to the extent of $30,000,000;

CONFESSION FOR DICK

"And where Hon. J. W. Jones, as Minister of Finance, has introduced in the provincial Legislature the government's budget for the year 1931, which more than confirms Mr. Dick's declaration, and in his budget address has declared the intention of the government to impose additional burdens of taxation on the people of this province;

"Therefore, be it resolved that Hon. Dr. Tolmie and the members of his government be requested to resign, and that the people of the province be given an opportunity to approve or reject the proposed imposition of further taxation and the increase of the province's debt."

"And be it further resolved that if such taxes as are now proposed be levied on the people without their consent, that the payment of all such taxes shall be refused."

Bearish Sentiment Is Keeping Grain Trade Nervous, Narrow

"Bearish sentiment prevailing in the grain trade with a disposition to press sales on the declines, keeps the trade nervous and fluctuations rather narrow," the Chicago Tribune to-day says.

"Rains over a part of the southwest and favorable reports from Western Canada encourage selling, but the disposition is to cover on small declines.
"Cash wheat, however, while the Farm Board holdings of wheat are selling at the seaboard at very low prices. Farm Board officials, however, are not nudging any prices in their general discussion of the situation. Storage room they say will be available for the new crop.

"The trade apparently is settling down to the belief that there will be not less than 275,000,000 bushels of wheat carried over on July 1."

"Crop conditions are favorable, but it is considered too early in the season to sell wheat short on present prospects." The Journal of Commerce says.

"Furthermore, there is no pressure of cash wheat."
"Country marketings are going into the hands of Farm Board agencies and the concentrated holding serves to make the buyers cautious.

"All reports show stocks of wheat abroad to be small, but importers feel no urge to buy actively, as they are being offered wheat from all directions.
"The corn market feels the depressing wheat situation and lack of demand.
"Traders see nothing to bring about any marked decline, but expect no great activity until there is more active cash corn trade."

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)

Winnipeg, March 20.—Wheat: The wheat market was extremely dull today with prices dragging fractionally lower until the last half hour when shorts started covering but found nothing for sale and prices were lifted fractionally above the previous close.
There was practically no export business overnight and no outside interest was shown during the day.

There was a little buying of May at the start that was credited to New York interests which was understood to be old business. After the first fifteen minutes the market turned dull with very little of anything doing outside of a little scattered trade. The short covering was probably due to the fact that the market acted very stubborn on the early dips of 1/2 to 1/4. The general news was bearish, with heavy precipitation fairly general over the winter wheat belt, which also covered considerable of the spring wheat area in the U.S. and Canada, although Alberta remained no moisture.

The demand for cash wheat was quiet with offerings small and spreads unchanged. No change in the floor advanced, about the only feature of the market these days is the light offerings.
Winnipeg futures closed 1/4 to 1/2 higher.
Coarse grains: These markets were also dull but firm with no pressure in evidence. A small lot of barley was reported worked for export.

Oats: These were but little changed at any time. Cash interests credited with buying moderately while there was no special pressure either in the cash or futures market.

Rye: Fairly steady but dull, with little change in general situation.

MAYOR TAYLOR PLEDGES WAR ON MILK ACT

Will Arouse All Vancouver in Speaking Campaign, Legislators Told

Agriculture Committee Hears Rural Leaders Approve Dairy Adjustment Act

A threat by Mayor Louis D. Taylor of Vancouver to take to the hustings in all the wards of Vancouver to lead a campaign to smash the Dairy Products Adjustment Act, if upheld by the Legislature, featured yesterday evening's proceedings of the agriculture committee of the Legislature, at the conclusion of three hours of debate on milk legislation.

Only second in importance was Mayor Taylor's peremptory instruction to J. B. Williams, Vancouver city solicitor, not to cross-examine Lyle Macken, vice-president of the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association. The mayor's intervention occurred when Col. Fred Lester, chairman, and A. M. Manson, charged that serious allegations by Mr. Williams had been disproved at the morning session by Mr. Macken, and must be satisfactorily explained.

Mr. Macken resumed giving testimony, and quoted Mr. Williams as stating that the natural law of supply and demand had been flouted by the co-operators, who had been responsible for extreme vagaries. It was possible that a five or six cent price would be followed by Vancouver consuming all the milk of the city of such a price would be the bankruptcy of scores of farmers, cattle would be killed off and prices would soar. What was needed was effective regulation.

"It is not a seasonal surplus problem, it is an annual surplus problem," he asserted. Allegations by Mr. Williams that the butterfat content of milk supplied by Vancouver had decreased were denied by Mr. Macken. In 1928 tests were made by Vancouver city health officials, the average being 3.73 per cent. In 1929 the results were 3.8 and in 1930 were 3.77 per cent.

In 1931 standard milk supplied by the merger dairies averaged 3.79 in January and February. The government requirement for the grade in question was 3.25 per cent.

"At the proper time and in the proper court I propose to submit affidavits from the proper persons to that effect. Yet in the face of these figures, gleaned from the record of the city health department, we have the statement of the municipal solicitor that the butterfat content has gone down," Mr. Macken protested.

MAYOR'S MILK
"We also have the statement of the mayor of Vancouver that, to make his milk palatable, he has had to break an egg in it. I think our dear old friend the mayor is just 'spoofing' us," Mr. Macken said, suggesting that Mayor Taylor used "spoofing" milk bottled on the farm, the butterfat content of which was unchanged from what it always had been.

Reading reports from Vancouver in favor of legislative regulations of milk supply, Mr. Macken expressed approval of such suggestion, remarking that when the government exerted powers existing under the Milk Act the "C" grade barns would disappear within thirty days, but that the milk surplus would always be a problem.

Counting complaints by independent producers collected by the adjustment committee, Mr. Macken cited members of the F.V.M.P.A. who had respectively paid, towards the cost of disposing of last year's surplus, the following amounts: $2,250, $2,214, $720 and $1,748. These sums were the difference between the seventy-three cent butterfat basis of fluid milk and the fifty-five cent price paid by the association to members.

"If any section of the milk producers has been treated with extra consideration it has been the small producer," he asserted. He denounced reports that officers of the association had misled the members, pointing out that the Chilliwack convention the directors had been unanimously instructed to carry the campaign to the Privy Council if such proved necessary.

"In going through this criticism I find it full of inaccuracies and inaccuracies," Mr. Macken protested. "The co-operating milk producers are prepared to continue to do their full duty, but they want the outsiders to take their share of the surplus milk burden. What has the Parliament done in the past year under this legislation? It has saved the producers about $500,000 without having raised the price of milk to the public one cent.

"With the fall in the price of butter the economies made possible by the Dairy Products Adjustment Act had been the only factor in enabling the producers to stay in business. This legislation has also smoothed out differences between co-operators and independent."

Touching on the future of the act, Mr. Macken said the milk co-operators assumed it would stay on the statute book. Like all new legislation it would require amendment from time to time.

End Piles Quick

NO SALVES—NO CUTTING

Your itching, bleeding, protruding piles will go when you actually remove the cause—bad blood circulation in the weak, flabby parts—and not one minute before. Salves or cutting can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. Hem-Roid, prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts. Hem-Roid has such a wonderful record right in this city, that McFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores say one bottle of Hem-Roid Tablets must end your Pile agony or money back.

The levy feature had appeared to come under the condemnation paragraph of the Dominion Supreme Court's judgment on the Produce Marketing Act. Advice of eminent counsel had been taken and the Fraser Valley Milk Producers had been reassured as to the legality of the law.

OTHER WITNESSES

Albert Young, manager of the Royal Dairy, Vancouver, said four years ago he had represented before the Legislature all the independent distributors and many independent producers in opposing the Milk Act. He was present on behalf of the dairy parties and a greatly increased number of independent producers, asking continuance of the Dairy Products Adjustment Act, as it had proven of value. He had attended many meetings, all had been favorable and only two had not been unanimous in support of continuance of the act, with amendments to strengthen its operation.

W. J. Blake-Wilson said no monopoly was sought and if there appeared any other trouble during the coming year, he would personally appear next year in support of repeal. Canada to-day had the highest priced butter in the world and he favored continuance of the act. Replying to Mr. Macken's statement of the repeal of the act would result in a milk war.

Reeve E. Wells of Chilliwack district, said the farmers of his district were almost unanimous in support of the Dairy Products Adjustment Act. Milk prices in Victoria were 2 cents higher than in Vancouver, he had found, citing this fact to prove that the Terminal City was not suffering from high prices attributable to monopoly.

He was not getting a high price for milk but we are making a living. There is no market for agricultural products such as potatoes, and if it were not for the dairy business hundreds of farmers would quit and drift into Vancouver, he concluded.

Reeve J. Brown of Surrey, said the farmers were ninety-five per cent behind the Adjustment Act and ex-Mayor C. Barber of Chilliwack City also urged continuance of the statute, declaring that the volume of support behind the milk producers had grown tremendously during recent years. Termination of the adjustment legislation would be disastrous, threatening ruin to hundreds of small producers who purchase large quantities of goods from Vancouver firms. Reduction of ten or fifteen cents per pound for butterfat would ensure and terminate that profitable trade, he believed.

Board of Trade had unanimously endorsed the Dairy Products Adjustment Act and any amendments found necessary by the milk producers.

WARNED OF MILK WAR

E. H. Barton, secretary of the Chilliwack Board of Trade and a dairyman of thirty years' standing, said, "I am as optimistic as Mr. Macken as to what will happen if this act is withdrawn. I agree with Mr. Blake-Wilson, there will be a milk war which will last about a year. Farmers tell me lots of things they will not tell of carrying the cost of this surplus."

Reeve Cruikshank of Matsqui said he represented the largest body of retailers outside of Vancouver, many of whom were now in difficulties and would be starving if the act were cancelled. Matsqui municipality was solidly behind the dairy farmers.

J. W. Carmichael, dairy farmer of Chilliwack for twenty-seven years, said the dairyman's position was better than it ever had been. He recalled that some years ago distributors had been able to buy milk at such low prices that they had been able to pour down the sink the surplus they had been unable to sell, a condition which had been abolished by the Milk Producers' Association. He had personally paid $2,500 towards disposal of surplus milk, that being the difference between the butterfat return and the price of fluid milk when sold independently in Vancouver.

Basil Gardom of Dewdney addressed a number of questions to Mr. Macken, who replied that control of milk sales had been placed in a single group as a result of organization of the Associated Dairies. Mr. Macken subscribed to the doctrine that control of the dairy industry should be entirely vested in the producers, voluntarily if possible but by compulsion if necessary. "I wish you saw all the milk that is wasted," he said.

Mr. Brook asked how 3,570 dairymen could be recorded as co-operators and independents when only 1,000 were officially reported. Mr. H. Rive of the Department of Agriculture said the inspection reports only covered barns recently inspected.

SALT SPRING CREAM

Frank Partridge asserted that Salt Spring Island producers ship one-third of their sweet cream to Vancouver, and two-thirds was sold as butter on the low priced Victoria market. He asked Mr. Macken why he was all for the adjustment charge on Salt Spring cream sent to Vancouver. The witness replied that, as the Salt Spring cream sought to replace Fraser Valley cream, it should bear an equitable share of the cost of handling surplusage.

MAYOR TAYLOR

Mayor Taylor said he had been informed Mr. Manson had remarked in the House that the Parliament Billings that Vancouver has been driven to the woods. He objected to any such statement and denounced the Dairy Products Adjustment Act as a "damning and limiting rights of individuals. He believed it to be the duty of the Crown to oppose such legislation and asserted that if other methods failed he would initiate a campaign against the legislation by speaking in all the wards of Vancouver. He would arouse a storm of protest, to which the government would be compelled to give heed.

Mr. Manson urged J. B. Williams, solicitor of Vancouver, to cross-examine Mr. Macken, as in view of serious statements made, the committee would not be receiving all the aid possible. Mr. Williams had expressed willingness to undertake the duty next week when Mayor Taylor intervened to prevent questioning, declaring "you are not going to spring anything like that on us."

Col. Lester explained to Mr. Williams that statements he had made at a previous session, on behalf of the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association, were not "directly disproved" by Mr. Macken earlier in the day and the committee was anxious to have the matter cleared up. Mr. Macken agreed that the statements were irreconcilable, pointing out that Mr. Williams was a counsel and was presumed to be basing his assertions upon positive information. He referred sarcastically to assertions by Mr. Williams as to the existence of a combine in Vancouver, which had been contradicted by Mr. Macken.

The proceedings adjourned at 11:30 o'clock at the call of the chair. Col. Lester intimating that the next hearing on milk legislation would probably take place on Tuesday morning.

SANFORD EVANS REFRAINS FROM "RUBBING IT IN" AS HUGE POOL LOSS IS TOLD

Warning Forecasts Given a Year Ago by Noted Economist in Manitoba Legislature About Dangers of Marketing Guarantees and Schemes Are Borne Out in Fact As Provincial Guarantees to Banks Mount to Staggering Sums.

Winnipeg, March 20.—When Premier Bracken arose in his seat in the Manitoba Legislature here to lay bare the relations of the government to the Wheat Pool, there came the day that Sanford Evans M.P.P., the economist and statistician, had been waiting for, for a long, long time.

Mr. Evans had a splendid chance to rub it in, for it was he who issued the dire warnings on the floor of the House over the wheat pool guarantee policy of the government of a year ago, and he had actually broken with his party when he submitted a motion to move he would be economically disastrous. Mr. Evans, of course, had something to say, but in his hour of triumph he behaved like the gentleman that he is. However, there are ways of measuring facts home that are not as pleasant as others, and Mr. Evans showed a dignity and restraint that earned the applause of the House.

Briefly the facts are that the certain liability of the three prairie provinces on their guarantees of the banking advances to the pools on the 1929 crop is $22,985,000, whereas Manitoba's share is $3,531,000 on the basis of prices on February 28. The provinces assumed the guarantee about a year ago, and once in, found that they had to carry on whether they wanted to or not. The total loans guaranteed were $83,000,000 up to the end of the 1929-30 crop year. Since then the three provinces have had to guarantee an additional $3,550,000, and have also deferred the security they took, in order to permit the pools to offer security on certain of the advances made by the banks on the 1930 crop. When the guarantee was given, the pools were holding futures to the extent of 14,000,000 bushels, and on November 15 last they still held 6,040,000 bushels on option. The unpaid quantity of the 1929 crop is 14,400,000 bushels of wheat and 3,000,000 bushels of coarse grains.

FEAR TO REVEAL HOLDINGS

There was some lively questioning during the debate. Mr. Bracken said that the pool had asked him not to reveal the quantity of grain still unsold nor the state of its option account. Colonel Taylor said he thought Manitoba should learn from the experience of other provinces. A year ago, the Conservative leader said, he had agreed to secrecy.

RUSSIAN PLAN IS SUCCESS
SAYS PROFESSOR SOWARD

Tells Extension Society Russian Dumping Not Plot Against Capitalism

English Armament Costing $1,000 a Minute; Brilliant International Survey Given

"The allegation of Russia's dumping as a deliberate plot to undermine the capitalist system is unfounded," said Professor F. H. Soward of the University of B.C. in a brilliant address before the University Extension Society yesterday evening on "The Outlook in International Affairs." The lecture room at Victoria College was crowded, with students forming a large part of the audience.

"The Russian Plan is succeeding beyond our expectations, and is at present affected by the universal depression and by home complications, such as the lack of natural resources and the backwardness of transportation," he said. "They hired the money, didn't they?" the speaker continued. But Owen D. Young, who Professor Soward addressed incidentally might be the Democratic candidate in 1932, represented the broader American attitude toward the world, and this might triumph.

The solution of the reparations and interrelated debt situation lay with Washington, said the speaker. Professor Soward spoke instructively on what he termed the "gold famine." "Gold must always be regarded as a means to an end, not an end in itself. At present the South African mines produce half the world's supply, but the Rand mine will have reached its peak next year, and will be on the down-grade by 1942."

"The less gold, the more commodities required to pay for it, the greater the price drops," continued the speaker. "The situation is a delicate one, and must be met by each country mutually agreeing to reduce their gold reserves one per cent, each year."

THE GOLD FAME

Professor Soward spoke instructively on what he termed the "gold famine." "Gold must always be regarded as a means to an end, not an end in itself. At present the South African mines produce half the world's supply, but the Rand mine will have reached its peak next year, and will be on the down-grade by 1942."

THE REMEDY

"The remedy for this lack of distribution seems to lie in the Bank of International Settlements, whose shares are held by twenty-two nations. When countries can trust this bank fully they will get the idea of sending their surplus gold to it and having it act as a world clearing house."

"We cannot, in the twentieth century, afford to agree with the old lady in Queen Victoria's reign who said: 'We would get on all right if it were not for these foreigners.'"

WHITNEY FLOUR INQUIRY LETTER URGED BY M.P. OF ROYAL CITY

New York, March 20.—Whitney of the Wall Street Financial Bureau says: FURTHER ADVANCE

"The attempt to sell down the market around delivery time did not even succeed in bringing the average leader down to even the high price of the previous day, and if such attempts cannot work out, any more successful will not find that stocks are taken in good deal harder than they were put out. These little reactions can always come along in an advancing trend, but it is the valuable clues of how the market stands. Yesterday's action plainly shows a higher market into the new week. As to the extent of the advance, I think it might be mentioned that what we would see before the so-called spring rise was over was an 'average' climb to the 205-10 level. We are now at 188 and well away from the point of original advance. The market still has approximately twenty points to go to carry out the original prediction. All of this means that considerably more advance is left in the market, especially now that a short interest has been so successfully sewed in."

COMMENT
"I advise you to assume a major position in American Rolling Mills, along the same lines as that recently advised in American Machine and Foundry. This means to put some of it away where day to day fluctuations may not affect it, and bring it out when it has doubled its present price. In connection with the advice to buy the leaders at the time of original bullishes here two weeks ago, we are seeing the right kind of progress in U.S. Steel, Dupont, General Motors, General Electric, Consolidated Gas, etc. Westinghouse was distinctly excepted from this advice, the others look higher. Case Threshing reacted just enough, but if you did not get it yesterday, buy it any place under 120."

"Be sure to have the two Can stocks, the two foreign utilities (A.B.W. and Columbia), and some of the low priced group which include U.S. Pipe and Foundry, Julius Kayser, American Radiator and American Machine and Foundry. I expect Columbia Gas to start a new move to-day. Elsewhere continue to advise Johna Manville, United Aircraft, Standard Gas, United Gas, etc. and others recently mentioned."

INDIAN CO-OPERATION
Ramsay MacDonald, the speaker said, had again proved his worth as an international statesman in his dealing with the Indian question and his handling of the Round Table Conference. The Congress party had been reconciled with the Viceroy, the Indian princes co-operation had been secured, and it seemed that India could now work out its own salvation toward dominion status, in spite of Winston Churchill, through Pilusudski whipping the opposition leaders.

China, Professor Soward continued, appeared to be gradually settling down, though at present it was having trouble with its silver.

In conclusion the speaker said the twentieth century citizen must realize that the world was his neighbor, and must try to bring into his international outlook that trinity of virtues—understanding, patience and co-operation.

Ottawa, March 20.—A change in the Naturalization Act which would recognize "Canadian" as a nationality, was urged by Thomas Reid, Liberal, in the Commons yesterday evening in the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

Port-of-Spain, Trinidad, B. W. I., March 20.—Trinidad oil production continues to be in the increase. The flow of oil in 1930 was more than quadruple the output of oil ten years ago. With a recovery in prices this year the production promises to show a very favorable increase, compared with any previous year.

SOVIET EMBARGO
The member for New Westminster suggested the reason the Bennett government had banned certain imports from Russia was that that country's industrial agency was "reputable" to men like Sir Herbert Holt.

BREAD INQUIRY
Turning to the recent report on the bread baking industry of the country, Mr. Reid said it had not gone far enough. There should have been an investigation into the high cost of flour in relation to the price of wheat. He quoted figures to show that in Australia the reigning price of wheat in December was sixty-one cents, and flour 1.4 cents a pound. In the same month in Canada, wheat was fifty-six cents a bushel and flour 2.4 cents a pound. "The time has come," declared Mr. Reid, "for the government to investigate the flour industry of this country and break up the combine that is exploiting the people of Canada."

OLD AGE PENSIONS
Mr. Reid urged all ex-soldiers should receive free hospital services. In respect to old age pensions, the Dominion Government should not only pay the whole cost, but the age limit should be reduced from seventy to sixty-five years, he said.

Sarasota, Fla., March 20.—Tom Crum, fifty-nine, who enlisted in the Canadian Expeditionary Force at Calgary, Alta., was found dead in a boarding house here yesterday. A tube ran from a gas jet to the mouth.

Mother: Your Frail Child Needs McCoy's
When we say McCoy's we mean of course McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets, each one of which is brimful of the weight building, vitalizing substance extracted from Codfish Livers. The gain in weight, strength and activity in the weak, rundown child is just a few weeks will surprise you. These famous health tablets are small, sugar coated and children love to take them. Get sixty tablets for 50 cents at any drug store anywhere—let the ailing child take them for twenty-eight days—then if you are not satisfied with the health improvements—why? Money back. (Adv.)

What The Gray House Hid

The Mystery of a Haunted Mansion

By WYNDHAM MARTYN

(Copyright)

"You are quite justified," he said benignly. "We are admitted trespassers, and have no locus standi. I consider that you are well within your rights. Come, Belle, don't be silly! It will only be for a little while."

Belle, who knew him and his moods better than anyone else, was not deceived, as were the others. The man, watching, thought they saw Appletton serene in the consciousness of having committed no heinous sins. Belle knew that murder was in his heart at that moment.

"Now, Les and Junior," said Hanoy, when the doors had been shut on the captured pair, "go down and bring up the wild faun. Stick your guns in his ribs. If he has any sense, he'll come quietly."

"I'll go, too," said Bill Pelham. "I tied those knots."

When they had gone, Burton turned to his cousin.

"Hill," he cried, "you don't think I killed that man?"

"Not for a minute, but you might have a lot of trouble explaining things all the same. I'm relieved at his death. I'll admit, I didn't tell Dina, or even Bill, but Mrs. Smucker warned me that he had stolen some money from his old father, and had probably bought a gun. He was seen at the Grand Central, where he inquired how to get to Pine Plains. Mrs. Smucker said he had made threats to kill me. That ties up with Appletton's story. No matter what other reasons he had, I believe he did keep Smucker from trying to kill me."

"Do you mean to let them go, then?"

"It will depend on what we get from this thug that Les and Junior are bringing."

Jim Delaney had too much sense to try to escape from three armed men. The fortunes of war had changed, and he was already considering the favorable position of one who turns state's evidence. He sat where Hanby directed him. He could see that the owner of the Gray house was not to be trifled with.

"It's enough for you to know," Hanby began, "that Appletton and Belle are shut away in those cells. We know all about them, the going to ask you some questions. Lie, if you want to."

"I'm not going to lie, boss," responded Jim eagerly. "That wouldn't do me no good now, would it?"

"None at all, but I don't want to influence you, Bill, take down his evidence, please. Just explain who you are, and why you and that man are here."

"Luigi," Jim volunteered, "he's a wop from Sicily. Him and me are employed by Appletton. We've been storing the stuff and guarding it." Jim strolled ruefully, "I don't know who give us away, but you certainly came when it did the most harm."

"Naturally," Hanby commented, wholly ignorant of what the other meant. "I'm giving you the opportunity of telling me all about it in your own way."

"It all began," Jim declared, "when Appletton bought Seymour's booze. This Seymour was a rich man. His wife was from a swell family in the south, and he expected to live here all his life. He had the house on a lease, with the option of purchase, and he meant to buy, see? So he sends home to England for a stock of booze—whisky in barrels, and port in wood, and liquors, and champagnes, and everything a man man wants. Them guys in England, when they're well fixed, buy wholesale, and they all have cellars and butlers to look after them. This Seymour, he put in enough so he'd never have to buy anything else if he lived to be 100. When his kids was drowned, and his wife died, he went back home, and although he was past 50, he got into his old regiment. Then his three brothers were killed in the war, and he was a lord or something. Money wasn't anything to him. He wanted to get out of this place, and he liked Appletton, so he took Appletton's check for the cellar. What does Appletton do but get Luigi to build a wall across one end of it? Luigi's a mason by trade. Appletton wasn't like me. I thought prohibition was a joke when it comes in. I was tending bar down on Third Avenue. Appletton had friends in Washington, and they knew booze was out for keeps."

Jim was here permitted to light a cigar, while Bill put down the main incidents in this recital.

"That's all," said Hanby, "that give Appletton the idea. He knew booze was going to be scarce, so he started to make a place to cache it in till the price was right and he could dispose of it all at one crack. He made new plans of the house, and left out the cellar where the stuff was stored. I guess that fooled you, Mr. Hanby."

"I did," Hanby admitted.

"He'll fool anybody," said Jim, who was enjoying the interest aroused by his story. "I'll say he's the slickest bird I've come across. He plans for the year after next—that's the sort of guy he is. He had the lake partly filled in. Then he had some dago laborers fix the street here and there, and make the place livable. They didn't know what they was doing, and didn't care, so long as they was paid good. I've come across him. I was tending bar down on Third Avenue. Appletton had friends in Washington, and they knew booze was out for keeps."

"What did you do?" Pelham asked.

"I used to shoot the stuff down the stream. I used to get it off the friends, drive up to the upper road, and put the cases under the culvert, so they'd drift down here. Luigi would pile 'em up, so that when the day came he could dump 'em in the stream and they'd drift down to Boyle's farm. I guess we're out of luck. To-night's the night. Everything and every one is fixed, and now you bust up the party!"

"How were you going to have taken it away? If there's so much of it, under the road is going to be piling under repair after dark, and all traffic will detour. That leaves us uninterrupted. We've got forty ten-ton trucks all ready. They'll get busy at the right time, and take out the stuff, which will be down at that lake by Boyle's barn. There won't be a hitch. This is a great fixing game, and I know how to fix the guys that might be in the way. This is big business," said Jim proudly. "Appletton expected to have 200,000 bucks to-night."

Jim was a gambler. He shrugged his shoulders. He had lost before.

"Who killed Smucker?" Hanby demanded suddenly.

"Luigi. Served him right. He was trying to croak him, the dirty little rat! It was justifiable homicide, all right. Don't you waste no tears about Smucker. He came here to bump you off. I found him trying to set fire to the thicket, that night when we had that big gale, and the wind was blowing on to your house."

"Let's get this straight," said Hanby, when he had listened to other particulars. "You and Luigi were going to put these case goods in the stream, where they would float down to Boyle's place unseen. At Boyle's the same trucks that are working on the new road would be waiting. These would take the stuff and dispose of it. Is that right?"

"Positively, boss. Everything was fixed but your gang."

"Show me where it is hidden," Hanby said. "I wouldn't try to escape, if I were you. Those boys will shoot."

At the edge of the large clearing, carefully stacked in piles, the searches found thousands of cases of whiskey, brandy, and old wines. Jim explained that there had been exhaustive experiments to tap it to the length of time and would take to float downstream under the road and come to rest in Boyle's lake.

"It's a straightaway trip but for one place," Jim volunteered. "We found they jammed there sometimes, so we greased the boards, and now they ride pretty."

"What about the Seymour stuff under the lumber in the big cellar?" Hanby asked.

"That wasn't to go yet. I think Appletton was going to make a deal with you direct when the time came. He wouldn't have no difficulty in selling that. You can get any price for stuff that is absolutely old and genuine. There's lots of people afraid of getting wood-alcoholized yet."

Jim pointed to the cases all ready for the journey.

"This is all honest-to-goodness stuff," he went on, "but it ain't old, like it used to be, and it don't do a guy any good to let it sit up when it's not used. I know. I've been in the saloon business. Appletton trusted me because I'm off the stuff for keeps. Luigi, he drinks the cheapest sort of wine. Like they used to make every morning in the fed-ink joints in the city. I'll say Appletton was a good guy for that. He didn't get just how you buttered in."

Hanby did not satisfy the fellow's zeal for knowledge. What followed puzzled Jim very much, but he made no remarks. He labored under the delusion that Leslie was anxious to shoot.

Nor did Luigi understand, but he, too, thought that his salvation lay in readiness to obey. Without pause he, Jim, Pelham, and Junior dumped the cases into the stream. Darkness was coming on when they finished. Jim had told them that by midnight, Hanby and the others would be on Boyle's property, where Boyle and his sons would help to load them on the trucks.

"I can't keep the stuff," Hanby explained to Burton, "and I want it seized on some one else's property. You can bet Appletton will keep his mouth closed!"

"But these other two men?" Burton asked anxiously.

"They will find that they have an opportunity to get away. It's clouding over for rain. I'm willing to match my fighting huckster hawk against your fighting tuchas moth that we shall never see Jim or Luigi again!"

"You're kidding," he said, and he believed their eyes when they saw that the men with automatics had become negligible. The two miscreants merged into the shadows, and faded from sight by some secret and unknown path.

There remained Appletton and his lady. Their problem was not so simple. Appletton must be held.

When the door was unlocked, the lady was visible and angry. When Appletton's door was flung open, he lay on the floor.

"You've killed him!" she said, and flung herself at his side.

There was no doubt that she loved him. Presently he sat up and smiled at her. His face was white.

"Come in and sit down!" invited Uncle Wiggily, pointing to a large strong chair for the pig gentleman to sit on, as he was fat and heavy.

"Thank you," grunted Mr. Twistytail. "What are you doing?"

"Little Ticky is teaching us how to make lettuce leaves dance by putting a paw under them and jiggling," explained Mr. Longears.

"Ha! Ha! That sounds jolly but I don't believe it," grunted the fat pig. But when he saw Ticky make the lettuce leaf dance, then the pig believed. Next Uncle Wiggily put his paw under the leaf and when he jiggled his fingers it danced. Nurse Jane and Mrs. Longears took Ticky up to the bathroom to wash her face and paws.

"What do you mean?" whispered the pig.

"I'll show you after a while," went on Mr. Longears. "You stay to lunch with us. Twistytail, I invite you now. After lunch I'll take Ticky to the Lady Mouse Teacher in the Hollow-stump School."

"All right," agreed the pig. "I want to see what else you can make dance besides a lettuce leaf."

"You'll see!" promised Uncle Wiggily.

Soon it was time for lunch. An extra place was set for the pig, near Uncle Wiggily. And, all of a sudden, when Mrs. Longears was just going to eat a plate of carrots, a rabbit came off her plate, the plate began to dance up and down.

"Oh, look!" cried the rabbit lady. "Now my plate is dancing as the lettuce leaf did. Please stop making my plate dance, Ticky!"

"I'm not doing it," said the little soundless rabbit. "Why, I am so far away from you that I couldn't reach your plate to jiggle it if I wanted to." This was true, as Ticky sat beside Nurse Jane at the far end of the table. But the plate of Mrs.

The Modern Girl Knows More About a Lot of Things Than Her Grandmother Knew, but She Hasn't a Hundredth Part of Grandma's Knowledge of Handling Men, Says an Older Woman

"THE MODERN GIRL," said a shrewd, elderly woman the other day, "knows a lot of things that her grandmother didn't know, but she doesn't know a hundredth part about handling men that grandma knew. She is terribly sophisticated, but she hasn't found out the secret of getting dates that grandma had at her finger ends. She has her college B.A. degree, but she isn't nearly as certain of getting to be a ma as grandma was."

"When I see how hard the girls have to work nowadays to attract men and how they have to struggle and strain and humiliate themselves to get a few attentions from boys, I am sorry for the poor things. Actually I could weep with pity when I hear pretty young girls at the telephone calling up boys who never call them up, suggesting places to go and offering the use of their cars, reproaching youths with not having been to see them, and the girl's voice so pleading, so anxious and so triumphant if she finally succeeds in wangling some poor little cake-eater or some drug-store cowboy into condescending to drop around to her house or take her out to the movies."

"And look how the boys treat the girls. Like dirt under their feet. No gallantry. No chivalry. Half the time when a young man invites a girl to go out with him he doesn't even take the trouble to go and fetch her. He asks her to meet him some place that is convenient to him, and she is so tickled at having a date at all that she meekly trots down to the theatre or the restaurant or wherever he designates. And when he comes to take her out in his car he doesn't even make the gesture of politeness of entering her home and asking for her and of assisting her into the car. He merely sits on the back of his neck and honks the horn until she joyously rups out and climbs in herself."

"I tell you that the Grand Pasha who threw the handkerchief to the palpitating ladies of his harem and let them scramble for it had nothing in arrogance on the modern young man."

"And, saddest of all, the girls of to-day have to do all the lovemaking apparently. At least I notice that when I see a spooning young couple in an automobile it is always the girl who has snuggled down as closely as she can get to the man and it is the girl who has her arm around the man and is gazing up adoringly into his face, while he is sitting up as unresponsive as a graven image, with an expression on his countenance that proclaims to the world that he is bored to death by all this manifestation of affection, but that he really doesn't blame the poor thing for feeling that way about him. He is so fascinating she can't help it."

"Now I wonder why all this is thus. Why has the modern girl lost out with men? Why does she have to toil so hard to get a few dates? Why is she less popular with men than were older women when we were girls? Certainly our daughters and our granddaughters are just as good-looking as we were, they are much better educated and have had far more advantages than we had and so should be more interesting. And certainly there are just as many young men in the world as there ever were."

"Yet we had trains of young men trotting after us. We had beaux galore. We never lacked for an escort anywhere and most of us had half a dozen or more genuine bonafide proposals of marriage. Yet we didn't make a hundredth part of the effort to get dates that the modern girl does and we would have sat at home and sucked our thumbs forever before we would have badgered a young man into taking us anywhere. The initiative had to come from him."

"I think that is the explanation of the whole mystery," said another woman. "It is because the modern girl runs after men that they run away from her. Men are born hunters and as long as women were aloof and hard to get it roused the spirit of the chase in them and put some pep into the pursuit. But now, when girls openly stalk them down, the game consists in taking to cover and evading capture. The difference in the attitude of men toward women in our day and now is the difference between shooting a bird on the wing and knocking over a barnyard fowl that is eating out of your hand."

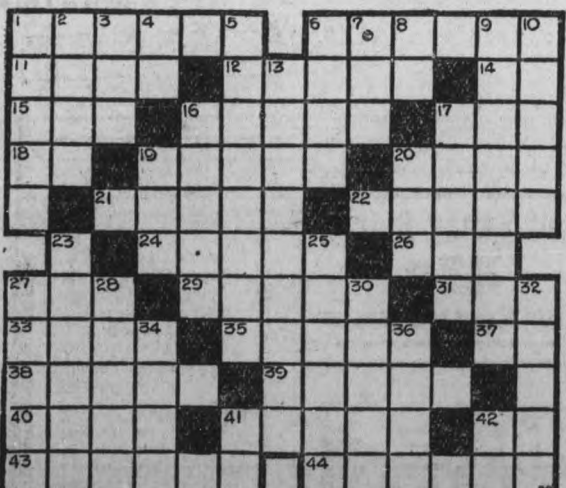

"And another difficulty the modern girl has to contend with is that men know her too well. In our day men cherished a lot of romantic illusions about girls. They didn't see us at close range and so we could keep up a pose about being angels and helpless and all that sort of thing, but the modern girl can't do that when she works side by side with a boy every day and maybe beats him at golf or tennis. He has her number."

"More than that, when girls went into business and became pals and fellow workers with men they lost men as gallant lovers. It was because women were different from men that made feminine society precious and sought after by men, but now when girls strive to make themselves into imitation men and to dress and act and talk like men they have lost a lot of allure. They are more like little kid brothers than lady lovers."

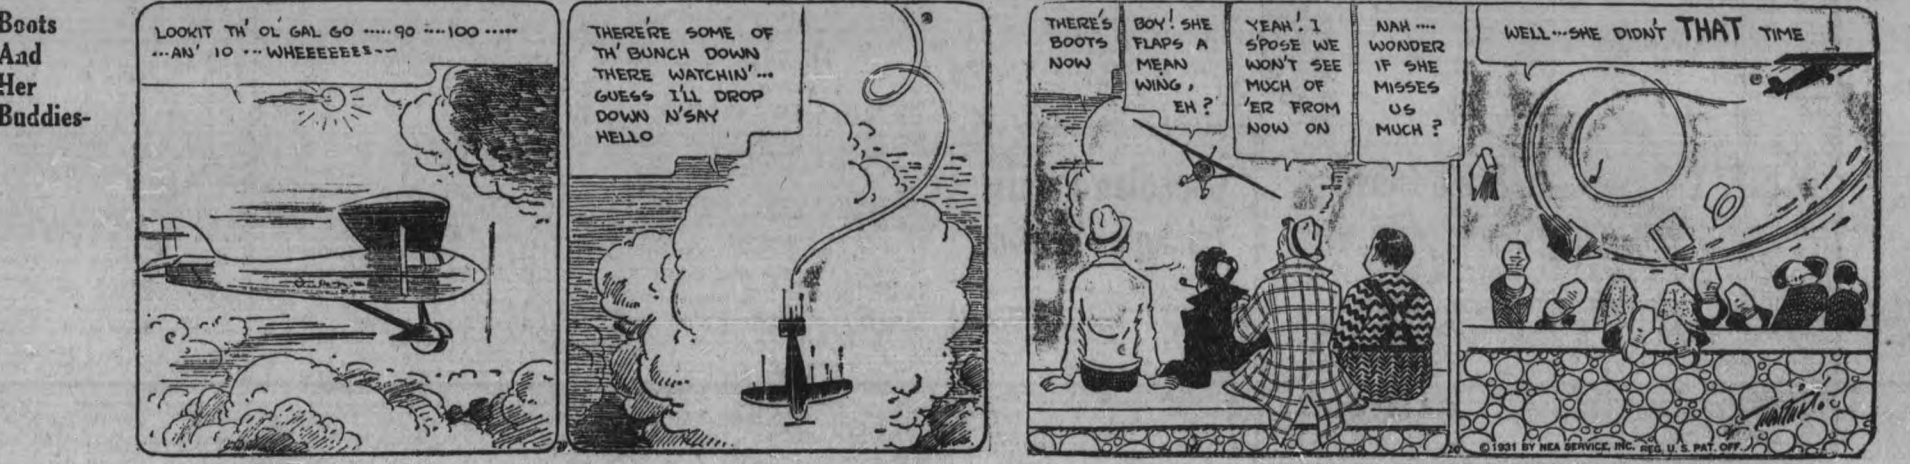

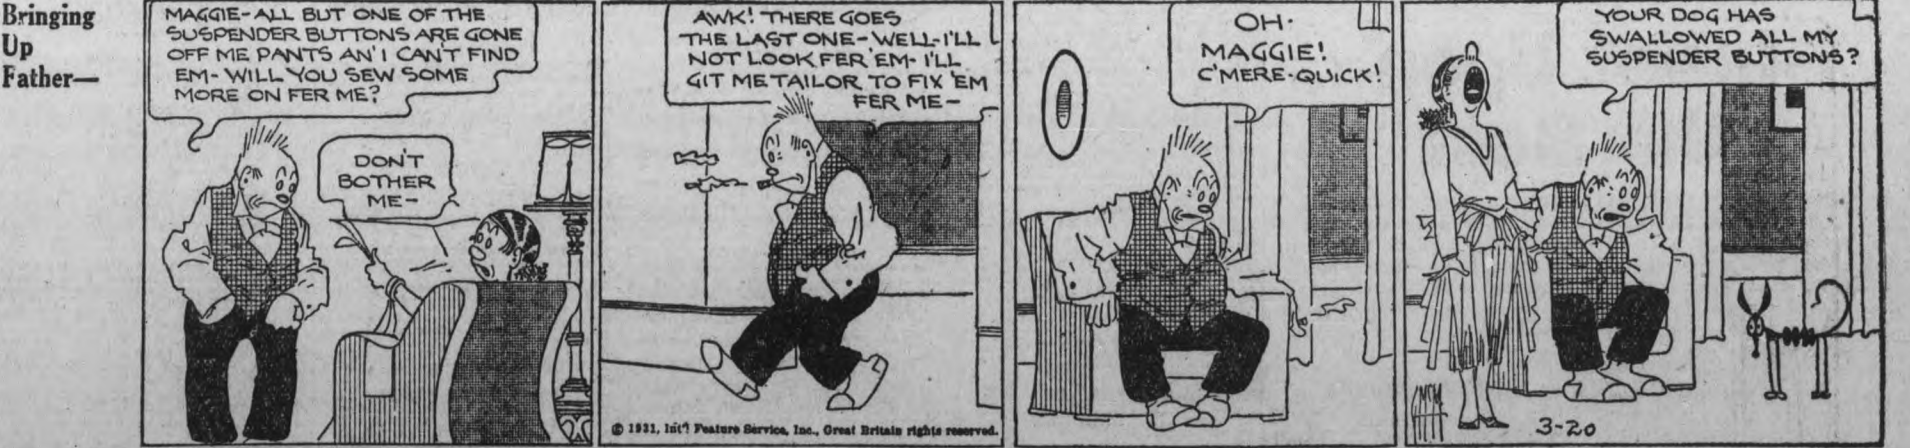

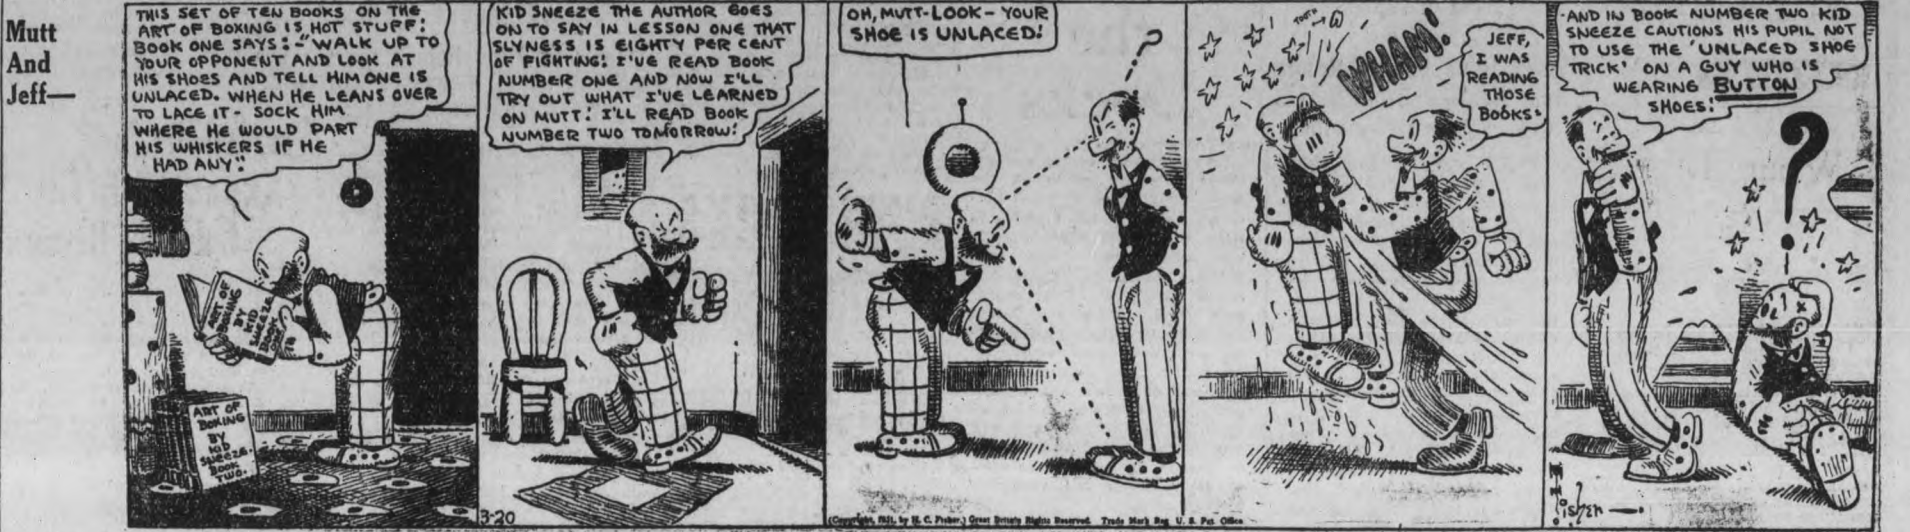

"And, perhaps the chief reason why the boys show girls fewer attentions now than they used to do is because they have found out that if they won't run after the girls, the girls will run after them, and so they sit back on their necks and let Mary do it."

Empress of Canada Breaks Own Record

Still Four Hours and Thirty-three Minutes Behind Empress of Japan

Would Have Beaten Record Had Weather Been More Favorable in Mid-Pacific

Although she still has four hours and thirty-three minutes to elapse from the Empress of Japan's time, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada, bettered her own record by three hours and two minutes on the voyage across the Pacific Ocean from Yokohama which terminated here this morning. The Empress of Canada came across in eight days, seven hours and fifty-one minutes compared to eight days, ten hours and fifty-three minutes which was her time on her maiden trip in 1923. That record held until the maiden trip of the Empress of Japan. Last month the Japan further clipped the record to eight days, three hours and eighteen minutes.

The Empress of Canada will not have another opportunity for some time to break the Japan's record on the north Pacific as on her next voyage from the Orient she is scheduled to call at Honolulu on her way here. Realizing this, her commander, Capt. A. J. Bailey, R.N.R., pressed the ship forward at all speed and at times she steamed twenty-two knots, although the average all the way across was twenty-one knots. Chief Engineer W. H. Froude reported. The new engines of the Canada, installed in Scotland about eighteen months ago, have now been sufficiently "broken in" to allow the ship to proceed at this speed.

If the weather had been more favorable, Capt. Bailey is confident he could have broken the Empress of Japan's record and given the latest Empress of Canada a new mark to aim at on her next trans-Pacific voyage. But for two days in mid-Pacific the Empress of Canada fought rough weather which reduced her speed considerably. Yesterday, also, off the west coast of Vancouver Island, it was rough and the ship came straight down the coast so as not to get in the trough of the huge seas running at the time. Early yesterday evening, realizing that a gale was springing up, Capt. Bailey ordered twenty-two knots and the ship made this speed until she reached Cape Flattery. In this way she missed the worst of the storm. The Canada cleared the Yokohama breakwater at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of March 18.

Around the Docks

No further word having been received from the captain of the American Mail liner President Lincoln, that ship is still expected to reach the William Hastings quarantine station this evening at 8 o'clock, inbound to Victoria and Seattle from ports in the Philippine Islands, China and Japan. She is twelve hours behind schedule because of rough weather on the Pacific. After leaving passengers and cargo here the Lincoln will proceed to Seattle about midnight. A large party of American Mail officials from Seattle arrived in Victoria this morning to meet the inbound ship and accompany her to Seattle.

With 125 tons of general for discharge at this port, the Canadian National freighter Canadian Miller docked at the Bithet piers yesterday evening at 10:30 o'clock from St. John and Halifax. Work of discharging was commenced immediately the vessel was tied up and she proceeded to Vancouver at 2:45 o'clock to unload a good cargo for Vancouver and other mainland points. It is possible that the Miller will return here for lumber before sailing on her return to the east coast in about three weeks' time.

MET SHIP HERE
Capt. E. Aikman, R.N.R., superintendent of the Empress liners at Vancouver, came to Victoria this morning to meet the inbound Empress of Canada. Other C.P.R. officials over the ship were: Mr. J. Sturges, general passenger agent, J. J. Foster, steamship general passenger agent, and Charles F. Blaney, traveling passenger agent. They all arrived from Vancouver on the morning boat and returned aboard the Empress of Canada.

REMARKS TO-MORROW
After being off the run for more than two weeks, the Canadian National steamer Prince Henry will resume the tri-city service between Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle to-morrow. She is scheduled to sail from Vancouver at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon and to arrive here at 5:45 o'clock. The Prince Henry has a submerged obstacle in the Gulf some weeks ago and it was necessary to dock her for repairs. As no other boat was available to replace the Henry the service was cancelled.

Villager And Princess Mary Out Of Drydock

After general overhaul and cleaning and painting of her exterior, the Norwegian motorship Villager was floated out of the Government drydock at Esquimalt early this morning. She is now lying alongside the Government wharf receiving finishing touches before proceeding to sea. Yarrow's Limited did the overhaul job on the ship. King Brothers are the local agents.

The C.P.R. coast steamer Princess Mary also came out of the drydock this morning after propeller repairs and a minor overhaul. She later came into the Jameson Harbor. The Victoria Machinery Depot did the work on the Princess Mary.

RUTH DOCKS FROM SOUTH

Brought Good List of Passengers; Delayed at Sea By Rough Weather Off Coast

Rough weather off the coast as she was coming up from San Francisco kept the Pacific Steamship Company's liner Ruth Alexander from docking at the Bithet piers until 2:30 o'clock this morning from California ports. She proceeded at 7 o'clock to Seattle, after leaving 130 tons of general cargo and disembarking sixty passengers.

Among those who left the liner here were: Mrs. William Maynard and J. W. Maynard, returning to their home here after a month's visit in southern California; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hodges, Mrs. E. H. Harris, P. H. Harrison, J. A. Hamilton, George L. Johnson, Miss Amanda Jussila, Miss Lillian Lamey, Mrs. L. Liddle, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Lee, Miss Betty Lee, Mrs. E. R. Moore, Miss L. SHIPPING AT CHINA PORTS IMPRESSIVE

H. J. McGuire, C.P.R. Baggage Agent at Vancouver, Returns From Business Trip

Globe Trotters Return From World Cruise; Victorians Also Aboard Empress of Canada

"The thing that impressed me most was the tremendous shipping that is going on in Hong-kong and Shanghai and the great possibilities that Canada has to share in that trade," said H. J. McGuire, general baggage agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway at Vancouver, who passed through Victoria this morning aboard the liner Empress of Canada, after an extended trip through China and Japan in the interests of his department. Mr. McGuire went to the Orient on December 20, aboard the Empress of Japan, and spent some time in all the important centres of the Orient.

Another Vancouver official of the C.P.R. arriving this morning aboard the Empress of Canada was F. J. Samways, auditor for the company, who has been on a combined business and pleasure trip to the Orient. P. C. Owen Stanton of the Canadian Pacific staff at Montreal also returned aboard the liner this morning from the Far East.

Several of the passengers aboard the Empress of Canada to-day were en route across Canada to St. John to board the various lines of the Canadian Pacific. Among them were: W. G. Goggin of the Bank Steamship Line at Hong-kong, who will join the Duchess of Athol, April 2; Capt. T. Grant and A. D. Kelman of the Indo-China, who are also booked for that liner; J. K. Robertson, a director of the firm of Brunner, Mond & Company of Japan, accompanied by his wife and son, to sail March 28, aboard the Duchess of Richmond; F. Christmann of Yokohama, who will also sail on that liner, and J. F. M. Blau of the Rising Sun Petroleum Company of Yokohama, en route to join the Duchess of Richmond for England.

An interesting quartette of passengers aboard the Canada were Mrs. Fred Pollard and Miss Louise Pollard, who returned from spending four months with friends and relatives in Japan. They left Victoria in October, aboard the Empress of Japan.

Burrard Drydock Expected to Get Guldberg Repairs

Vancouver, March 20.—Word is being awaited from the owners of the M. Guldberg in Oslo as to awarding of a tender for repairing the ship. It is believed the job will go to the Burrard Drydock Company as it is understood that firm was the lowest bidder. The cost of repairs will exceed $60,000. The vessel is anchored in the stream, awaiting the decision of the owners who are represented here by Canadian Transport Company Ltd.

SEATTLE SHIPPING

Seattle, March 20.—Purchase of the steamers San Bernardino and San Pedro from the Pacific and Atlantic Line and their immediate entrance in intercoastal trade by the Dominion Line, was announced here yesterday by Percy S. Laing, Dominion Line agent.

The two vessels, now on the East Coast, will permit the line to operate on a ten-day schedule instead of twelve days as heretofore, bringing the fleet total to twelve ships. Canadian National Railway officials here said B. C. Keeley, Pacific Coast manager of the organization's steamships, has submitted his resignation to take effect as soon as he can be replaced. Keeley, under doctor's orders, plans to spend some time in the south.

aboard the liner Empress of Australia. They left the cruise lines at Yokohama, after what they said was a glorious and never-to-be-forgotten trip. Two Victorians were also aboard the Canada to-day. They were Mrs. Fred Pollard and Miss Louise Pollard, who returned from spending four months with friends and relatives in Japan. They left Victoria in October, aboard the Empress of Japan.

Among those aboard the liner were: Louis Beale, a special commissioner to the Overseas Trade Development Council returning to London with Mrs. Beale from an extended visit in the Orient; Brig-General H. B. H. Orpen-Pulmer, retiring commander of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps, en route to England with his wife; J. H. Grant of the Standard Oil Company of New York, en route to New York on business; J. P. Coghill, of the British Consular Service at Shanghai, on his way to England on furlough; H. S. Fedley, manager of the Swedish Match Company, en route to New York with Mrs. Fedley; C. S. Lechner of Kone, Netherlands Consul General at that city, en route to New York with Mrs. Lechner, and E. Allan Cameron, a prominent broker of London, who has been in the Orient on business and who is returning home by way of California and New York.

CANADA HAD INTERESTING LIST ABOARD

Travel Across Pacific Begins to Pick Up and Empress Had Fair Number

Cosmopolitan Group Included Business Men, Missionaries and Picturesque Orientals

Travel across the Pacific from Asia to North America is beginning to pick up for the spring and summer it was apparent by the passenger list that arrived here this morning aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada from the Philippine Islands, China and Japan. There were 241 passengers aboard the Canada in all classes, of whom eighty-two were in the first class, fifty-one in the second class, ten in the third and 198 Orientals in the steerage. "Every arrival here from the Orient from now until early in June should have larger lists of passengers, and it was said on board the Canada this morning that when the Empress of Japan arrives here from the Far East on April 17 she will have the largest list of passengers to cross the north Pacific in recent years.

Fifty-nine passengers disembarked at Victoria, including thirteen first class, nine second class and thirty-seven steerage. Most of these proceeded to Seattle this afternoon, while several others will remain here for a few days before continuing their journey to Vancouver, en route to the East. About forty-five tons of general cargo were discharged while the ship was at the Bithet piers. For Vancouver there were 1,720 tons of general cargo, including 2,450 bales of raw silk. Mail for Victoria was made up of 955 bags, most of which was sent to Seattle this afternoon. For Vancouver the Canadian distribution there was 170 bags of mail.

FISH SHIPMENTS END FOR SEASON

Winnipeg, Man., March 20.—Freight shipments of fish from western Canada are practically over for the present season, according to T. P. White, superintendent of car service for Canadian National Railways, who reports that 815 cars of fish were shipped from the prairie provinces and British Columbia during the period from November 15, 1930, to the present date. This figure is below that of the 1930 season owing to the fact that Manitoba shipments fell from 610 cars to 379 cars.

A majority of the consignments of fish were for points in the United States, no less than 514 cars, being billed to cities south of the border. A total of 116 cars were distributed in Manitoba, while Ontario accepted ninety-eight cars of western fish. December was the largest shipping month with total consignments of 247 cars, while January was high with 192 cars and February close behind with 164 cars.
